JAIL SENTENCE

For Man Arrested at Sunday Night Disturbance

Officer Goggin Testifies to Seeing the Prisoner Throw Piece of Ice Through Window of the Reading Room—The Defendant Appealed From Sentence

The sequel to the riotous demonstration in Suffolk street last Sunday night when the windows of the mission conducted by Rev. Panos Giniere were smashed, was aired before Judge Hadley in police court this morning when Peter Bayetatos was arraigned on a complaint of breaking glass. James Stuart Murphy appeared for the defendant, while the government's case was conducted by Supt. Redmond Welch.

After the testimony had been offered, Judge Hadley said: "This was nothing more or less than a riotous demonstration, and it is too bad that the officer could not have secured the names of a dozen or more persons and have them brought into court for rioting. Besides being unlawful, a riot is foolish, senseless and accomplishes nothing, but the destruction of property is dangerous and is a nuisance generally, and irresponsible always."

"Demonstrations of this kind are not to be tolerated. If another demonstration of this kind occurs I hope that the superintendent of police will call out the police force and arrest every one connected with it."

"I remember a good many years ago of a riot in Lowell street when the fire department was called out. After the firemen had played the hose on the angry mob it dispersed, and the people went to their homes drenched to the skin. When I hear that there will be no rioting at this late day I think that if there is any that it would be a good idea also to bring the fire department into action."

Patrolman Goggin

Patrolman Richard J. Goggin was the last witness for the government, and he testified in part as follows: "About 8.45 o'clock last Sunday night I saw the defendant pick up a lump of ice in Suffolk street, between Broadway and Lagrange street, and throw it through a window in the Greek mission. There were about a dozen or 15 other people throwing missiles. I went directly towards the defendant and placed him under arrest. When I placed my hand on him he was in a stopping position. There were chunks of ice in the street where he was. "I took the prisoner to the police box at the corner of Broadway and Suffolk St. about 40 or 50 yards distant. After Bayetatos had been sent to the mission and found that eight lights of glass had been broken; five large ones and three small ones. The windows were intact at 7.50 o'clock when I passed the place."

On cross-examination witness said that there about 200 people in front of the mission; the majority of them were on the opposite side of the sidewalk in front of the building. Witness said he saw several other than the defendant throwing ice. Patrolman Goggin said that he was about 20 feet from the defendant when the latter threw a piece of ice, which crashed through the window. Witness said that he could swear that the piece of ice which he saw Bayetatos throw broke a pane of glass in the mission.

John J. Walsh

John J. Walsh of 186 Suffolk street testified that he lives next to the defendant, and that last Sunday night he saw the defendant break a pane of glass. There were others throwing ice. Witness said he was able to identify the prisoner as one of the men who threw missiles because he was the only man throwing ice who wore an overcoat.

Cross examined by Mr. Murphy, witness said that earlier in the evening an attack had been made on the building.

Rev. Panos Giniere

Rev. Panos Giniere was the next witness called, and he said that the place was used as a reading room and not as a mission. He said he had charge of the place and rented the building from A. C. Wheelock. Sunday afternoon about five o'clock he had occasion to go to the reading room and at that time the glass in the window was all right. About 9.30 o'clock that night he was given to understand that an attack had been made on the place. On Monday morning at 7.30 o'clock he visited the reading room and found that eight windows had been broken. He said that glass in the windows had been broken on two previous occasions.

Edward Oge, caretaker of the Wheelock property, testified that Mr. Wheelock owned the building in question. He said that it would cost $15 to reset the glass.

The government rested its case at this point.

Defendant's Case

Peter Bayetatos, the defendant, testified that he was at the Greek church at 7 o'clock Sunday night. Later he and others went to the office of Dr. Gatsopoulos in the Associate building. He went to the doctor's office to make him apologize for the piece he had put in the newspaper to the effect that 25 per cent. of the Greeks were consumptives. The doctor was not in and he returned to the Greek church and later went to look for Giniere because he also had said that the Greeks were in consumption. He denied that he had broken any glass in the reading room, stating that when he arrived in Suffolk street all of the glass had been broken.

A witness with an unpronounceable name said that he was one of a committee of 200 appointed by the Greek church to see Dr. Gatsopoulos and Mr. Giniere to make them retract the statements that they had caused to be issued to the effect that there was a great deal of consumption among the Greeks. Witness said that he heard that several panes of glass had been broken at the reading room and he went up to see if such was a fact.

Peter Catsaras, who was in Suffolk street Sunday night, said that the defendant broke no glass. On cross-examination he admitted that he met Mr. Giniere on the street and talked with him, but denied that he said to Giniere: "Look out, for next Saturday night we will start another riot."

Brief arguments were made by Lawyer Murphy and Supt. Welch and the court after taking the evidence into consideration found the defendant guilty and sentenced him to two months in jail. He appealed and was held under $300 bonds for his appearance before the superior court.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. John Wesley and Mrs. Lottie Van Patten were married Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. James C. Caton, 135 Summer street, at 8 o'clock. Rev. S. W. Cummings, pastor of the First Baptist church, performed the ceremony. The best man was Mr. Frederick Welton, and the bride was attended by Miss Violet Caton. Guests were present from out of town. The bride wore white silk and carried roses, while Miss Caton was also attired in white silk, carrying violets and pinks.

DONNELLY-CARROLL

Mr. George A. Donnelly and Miss Margaret Carroll were united in marriage by Rev. F. O'Brien at the parochial residence of St. Peter's church Wednesday evening. The bride was attended by Miss Margaret Spooner and Mr. Frank Donnelly acted as best man.

The bride was becomingly attired in white silk with overlace and carried bride roses, while the bridesmaid was gowned in blue silk with overlace and carried lilies of the valley.

At the conclusion of the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Donnelly repaired to the home of the bride, 116 Middlesex street, where a reception was held.

The happy couple were the recipients of many beautiful and appropriate presents. Late in the evening they left on their wedding tour and will be at home to their friends after February 16.

MILK

14% CHEAPER

The butter fat and solids contained in milk give it its value, and their percentage in Hood Farm Milk is as large as that in milk is considerably cheaper at 10c a quart than ordinary milk at 14c.

If any housekeeper thinks she cannot afford to pay for a quart of Hood Farm Milk she should be told that according to a recent test, she could add a quart of water to every 4 quarts of this milk and then have a milk that would be up to the Massachusetts standard—that is, as good as ordinary milk.

Hood Farm Milk besides being cheaper than ordinary milk, on account of its larger content of nutriment, is also pure milk, and is more dependable as pure milk than as either rich milk or cheap milk.

Delivered at 10c a quart in most parts of the city. Telephone 816-4 or send postal to Hood Farm, Lowell, Mass.

MR. BLINK GIVES HIS VIEWS.

"I am surprised, Miss Lowell, to find that you have no public hall, and that your citizens hold their public meetings on the street corners. This is wrong. Give the people a hall and you will have no more street brawling campaigns."

THE FLOOD

Threatens to Destroy Famous Structures

PARIS, Jan. 28.—When the day broke over Paris and the submerged provinces surrounding the prospect was a cheerless one. A heavy rain had set in and a brisk breeze out of the north served to drive the flood to points which had heretofore escaped its invasion. It was feared this morning that it might soon be impossible to transmit any great amount of the press matter with which the offices of the telegraph and cable companies were heavily burdened. Early today the French Cable Co. announced that communications between this city and the provinces was difficult and at times interrupted.

The morning found a great force of masons still at work in the erection of a wall which it was hoped would divert the flood from the historic Hotel Lambert and the famous Hotel Lauzun adjoining. Both of these houses were built in the seventeenth century, the Hotel Lauzun having been purchased by the city ten years ago and made over as a museum of art.

The Rue St. Lazare was inundated throughout its extent by water which had found its way up through the subway. The roof of the subway under the Palais D'Opera fell in during the night.

The Castle St. Louis is fast disappearing under the waters and unless conditions change soon will be submerged. The river Seine continued to rise this morning and lacked only a few inches of attaining the greatest flood on record. This was in 1015 when the country was without the modern barriers which are designed to protect Paris and nearby points in such emergencies.

An unfortunate shift of the wind from north to southwest, accompanied by a falling barometer and heavy rain added to the distress of the stricken city this forenoon. Through the night the conditions in this city and nearby towns grew more serious. The devastation has now penetrated the very heart of Paris, the gorging rivers and sewers underneath literally blowing up the streets, while the area of the surface overflowed by the waters of the Seine had been doubled today. Twelve of the 25 bridges over the river have been closed and the quays on either side from one end of the city to the other either are inundated or have been roped off as unsafe.

The Palais De Glais and other pleasure resorts and restaurants are surrounded, even the Palais D'Opera at the core of the city threatening to sink to the subway beneath. Cellars throughout the district from that point to the St. Lazare station comprising the Faubourg Montmartre and the Rue Berger and the richer sections in the Rue de Provence, the Rue Bruneau and the Rue Chateaubriand are flooded to the street level with water from the overflowed subterranean river.

The Palais de Legion D'Honneur has been evacuated. The situation in the neighborhood of the French Institute has become desperate.

War would hardly have played such havoc. The City of Lights has become a city of slime. Business is almost at a standstill and the hotels are crowded with persons who have fled from inundated homes. The prices of necessities are advancing by leaps and bounds as the paralysis of transportation feeds extortion. The Northern railroad alone of the vast network of railways still operates directly into the city and the operation of this line is threatened by the deplorable situation at the St. Lazare station where the tracks are submerged and the immense building is in danger of falling as a result of broken water mains beneath its foundations. This last means of insuring suburban traffic was interrupted for a time today when the tracks of the belt line were engulfed at the Rue Du Contrecoeur. The roads leading to the city were filled this morning with pedestrians coming to their work, and long processions of refugees bent beneath the weight of sacks containing the few of their belongings that they had been able to save. Practically all of them are without funds.

Disaster followed disaster during the day. A gapping chasm opened in the lower Champs Elysee engulfing a car and two men. One of the men was rescued but the other with the horse

BOARD OF HEALTH

Held Sort of Indignation Meeting This Forenoon

Board Criticizes Action of Appropriations Committee — Work Outlined by the Board Will be Done Regardless of the Committee's Action—Board is Determined to Wage War Against White Plague and to Put City in Sanitary Condition

The board of health held a special meeting this forenoon. It was a sort of indignation meeting and it was called to consider what the board calls "the absurd action of the committee on appropriations."

This committee held its first meeting last Wednesday night and refused to approve of the board of health's estimate for the care of contagious diseases. The weight of this estimate was based upon bills from other places where Lowell's patients have been or are being cared for, Reading or Rutland, for instance.

The board today voted unanimously to do all work that has been laid out and that has to do with contagious diseases, the care of the milk supply and the proper sanitary conditions of the city. The board will do this, regardless of any action of the committee on appropriations.

"The public can take its choice," said Dr. Martin, "between our action and that of the committee on appropriations. If there is anything more important than the health of the city, I would like to know what it is. In a letter accompanying our estimates for the year the following, which we consider to be vastly important, was included:

"We desire, especially, to broaden our efforts, the coming year, in two departments—the improvement of our milk supply, which has so great a bearing upon infant mortality, and more effective work against tuberculosis, including (tenement house inspection, fumigation, etc.). To this end we have decided to ask for $5000 for contagious diseases, this sum to include the considerable amount which we are annually obliged to pay to other cities and to various hospitals for the care of our citizens who are sick with any contagious disease while away from home."

The milk inspector's department, now under the board of health, asks for the same appropriation as last year plus the amount required for some necessary apparatus to carry on the milk examination.

The board allowed that the committee on appropriations should not have turned down its request for $5000 for contagious diseases. The amount expended last year was $2413 and the work has been growing and will continue to grow. The committee also clipped the board on its estimate for sundries. The board asked for an increase of about $2500 for contagious diseases, or a total of $5000. The committee on appropriations recommended the sum of $3000 for contagious diseases and office sundries. For office sundries which include advertising, bacteriological department, culture taking, express, medical services, printing, supplies, telephone, vaccine, etc., the board asked $1693. Under this head $1405.95 was spent last year, and extra supplies including new apparatus for the department of milk inspection are needed for this year. The apparatus asked for is said to be absolutely necessary for the examination of milk and the board intends to provide it, come what may.

The board at its meeting today voted not to appear before the committee. It was the sense of the board that its recommendations had been plainly outlined and explained in the letter accompanying its estimates and that it would be fruitless for the board to go before the committee.

On motion of Dr. Huntress it was voted that one of five or six tenements in a block in Oak avenue be vacated within 48 hours and to insist that the whole block be put in sanitary condition within 30 days.

It was voted to notify the owner of premises at 439 Market street that a bakery located there be put in proper condition, satisfactory to the board within three days and that the whole building be in such sanitary condition as to meet the approval of the board or its inspectors.

The board will issue its annual report in a few days and the reporter for The Sun came in contact with a few advanced sheets of the report. The sheets seen by the reporter were devoted to statistics and one had to do with cholera infantum cases. After looking the sheet over and speaking with the board members the reporter learned that they felt considerably comforted because of the fact that the number of cases in 1909 was 64 as compared with 93 for 1906, 93 for 1907, and 110 for 1908. The board allows it is fair to assume that its watchfulness of the milk supply, cleanliness, etc., had a deal to do with the falling off of the number of deaths from cholera infantum.

BRITISH ELECTION

The Coalition Majority Will be About 120

LONDON, Jan. 28.—That the position of the government is one of great uncertainty is not doubted and experienced politicians are unwilling to predict its security for even a few months. The debate on the speech from the throne furnishes further evidence of the probable trend of the different factions composing the tripartite government. The success of the independent nationalists, who probably have a total of ten seats, introduces the most interesting new factor to the scene. Mr. O'Brien talks of a trip to America and a tour of the principal cities there, with a view to justifying the action of his adherents as soon as the preliminary fights in the house of commons are over.

KNEE TO ANKLE A MASS OF HUMOR

Suffering Simply Indescribable—Had to Scratch Till Blood Ran—Health Undermined from Lack of Sleep—Gave Up Hope but

CUTICURA FREED HIM FROM SKIN-TORMENT

"About seven years ago a small abrasion appeared on my right leg just above my ankle. It irritated me so that I began to scratch it and it began to spread until my leg from my ankle to the knee was one solid scale like a scab. The irritation was always worse at night and would not allow me to sleep, or my wife either, and it was completely undermining our health. I lost fifty pounds weight and was almost out of my mind with pain and chagrin as no matter where the irritation came, at work, on the street, or in the presence of company, I would have to scratch it until I had the blood running down into my shoes. I simply cannot describe my suffering during those seven years. The pain, mortification, loss of sleep, both to myself and wife is simply indescribable on paper and one has to experience it to know what it is."

"I tried all kinds of doctors and remedies but I might as well have thrown my money down a sewer. They would try it up for a little while and fill me with hope only to break out again just as bad if not worse. I had given up hope of ever being cured when I was induced by my wife to give the Cuticura Remedies a trial. After taking the Cuticura Remedies for a little while I began to see change and after taking a dozen bottles of Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, the trouble had entirely disappeared and my leg was as fine as the day I was born. Now after a lapse of six months with no signs of recurrence I feel perfectly safe in extending to you my heartfelt thanks for the good the Cuticura Remedies have done for me. I shall always recommend them to my friends. W. H. White, 312 E. Cabot St., Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 4 and Apr. 15, 1909."

Ward, who turned a deficiency of 1475 in the Watford division of Hertfordshire into a unionist majority of 1552, was among today's successful candidates. The novelist played a large part of her son's campaign. William O'Brien again emphasized his strength in his election of the eastern division over the official Redmond candidate, V. Abraham, by a majority of 1471 in a total vote of less than 4500. O'Brien has now been elected to two seats, one of which he must resign. It looks now as if the coalition majority will reach 120.

With less than thirty members of the new parliament to be elected and the passing of the opportunity to influence voters there was evident today a disposition among the more conservative elements of the rival parties to recognize the fact that for all substantial purposes it was "nobody's game."

PRESENT STANDING OF PARTIES
LONDON, Jan. 28.—With only 28 districts to be heard from the position of the parties this afternoon is: Government coalition: Liberal 262, Irish nationalists 77, laborites 46. Opposition: Unionists 225.

The unionists were credited today with four additional gains, giving promise of a close fight between the liberals and unionists for numerical superiority in the new parliament. Asquith this afternoon furnished the politicians food for gossip when he started unexpectedly for the south of France where he hopes for a period of quiet during which he may review the situation and develop his plans. His absence is likely to raise a postponement of the cabinet council, which was expected for early in the coming week. The official explanation of the premier's sudden trip abroad is the great strain put upon him by the campaign but this hardly satisfies those who realize the urgent importance of the prime minister's presence at headquarters in the present state of political affairs. Sixteen representative Scottish peers who will sit in the new parliament were elected today at Holyrood palace at Edinburgh, the only change being that Lord Campbell replaces Baron Turpin who had the hardihood to support the small body of peers that voted for the budget.

C. A. Carey, Associate hall, tonight.

IMMIGRATION STATISTICS
WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—If the ratio of immigration for the first six months for the fiscal year 1910 is kept up the total for the year will exceed that for 1909 when 733,341 aliens arrived on American ships to make their homes here. During the six months of the current year the arrivals were 422,952.

Chas. Rogers, Manhattan, Assoc. Fri.

THE MENDELL BILL
WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The house committee on public lands voted today to report favorably the Mendell bill admitting to entry the surface of coal lands in the United States. The measure affects about 30,000,000 acres of lands in Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oregon, Washington and Idaho.

CATHOLIC FEDERATION
Lowell delegates will attend the mid-winter quarterly convention of the Middlesex county branch of the American Federation of Catholic societies to be held on Sunday afternoon, Jan. 30, 1910, at 2 o'clock in the St. Joseph's parish school hall, Union square, Somerville.

A public mass meeting will be held in the convention hall at 3:30 o'clock at which prominent speakers of the clergy and laity will deliver addresses on the federation movement.

WEDDED NURSE

Lynn Banker's Marriage Kept a Secret

LYNN, Jan. 28.—Frederick Stetson Pevear, former president of the National city bank of this city, who is close to the three-score mark in years, is speeding westward with a bride over 20 years his junior.

She was Miss Ruth M. Glidden, a nurse who attended his late wife during her last illness three years ago. They were married last night in the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Little, 13 Nahant street.

The marriage was not a surprise to Lynn society, for it was announced several months ago, but the date was kept a secret and only intimate family members were present when the Rev. Ernest J. Deen, rector of St. Stephen's church, performed the ceremony.

The romance is said to have had its

MAN WAS SHOT

Severely Hurt While Defending Friend

BOSTON, Jan. 28.—Edward Bransfield, 48, a fireman in the car shops of the Boston & Albany railroad, living at 159 North Beacon street, Brighton, while defending a sick friend from an annoyance yesterday afternoon, was shot through the abdomen and lies on the dangerous list at the City hospital.

John Managan, 24, a car cleaner of the Boston Elevated, is locked up in the Brighton police station, charged with assault and battery with intent to kill. The police say that should Bransfield's wound prove fatal the charge will be changed to murder.

So far the police have been unable to get head or tail as to how the shooting occurred. The men were alone in the house at the time, with the exception of John Kelleher, the sick friend, who was the innocent cause of the trouble.

All three resided at 159 North Beacon street, which is a lodging house run by Mrs. Catherine Brown. The trouble started early yesterday morning when Bransfield, who had been drinking with Managan, ordered the latter to get out of his room. When Managan did not go he was thrown out.

He returned about 2:30 yesterday afternoon, the police say, and went into the room of Kelleher, whom Bransfield was nursing. Both men say they ordered him out, but could not tell just how the shooting happened.

Patrolman John Dolan was told of the noise made by three pistol shots, and went to the house about an hour after the shooting. He found Mrs. Brown just returned from town and she knew nothing about the shooting. He found Bransfield down one flight of

CONSTANCE COLLIER IN "ISRAEL"

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

The performance of "Esther" at the Opera House next Sunday night, under the auspices of the young women of the Sacred Heart parish, should draw forth a very large attendance. This work has long been known as one of the best of the sacred cantatas, and the treatment of the beautiful theme has long been greatly admired. This same corps of singers gave two performances of the work at Hathaway's theatre last spring. Although they were eminently successful, much hard work has been put into the production since that time, under the direction of Mrs. Adelaide A. Muldoon. The singers all have fresh, sweet voices, and Mrs. James Bales in the title role should prove wonderfully attractive.

"ISRAEL"

The big dramatic sensation of the year appears to be Henry Bernstein's latest dramatic play, "Israel," which most dramatic writers refer to as his masterpiece. Mr. Bernstein has taken for the theme of this play the anti-semitic feeling so common in France and as in his two other plays with which American theatregoers are familiar, "The Thief" and "Samson," he has treated his theme with boldness and audacity. The second act of the play is said to be one of the most powerful of the stage, has ever seen and it invariably arouses and sustains the intense interest of an audience, while the fall of the curtain on the great climax of the act is a signal for numerous curtain calls. "Israel" is said to be splendidly acted, especially in its three principal roles, for which Charles Frohman has provided such players as Constance Collier, Edwin Arden and Graham Browne. In fact the entire company is identical with the original New York cast and the production is also the same. Charles Frohman will present "Israel" at the Opera House Tuesday, Feb. 1.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

Eight sprightly dancers, known as the Palace Girls, and direct from success in England, are headlined at Hathaway's theatre, this week. The act can surely grind out many steps and kicks and there seems no end to their powers of endurance. They dress the act in a manner calling for emphatic approval. James Clemons, a grotesque dancer of downright merit, also appears in the act. He is one of the great big hits of the program.

Emerin Campbell and Aubrey Yates in "200 Miles from Broadway," have an offering which is filled with comedy moments. It was written by Edmund Day, and is most satisfying. Mr. Yates plays the role of a bookmaker, driven from New York, and Miss Campbell that of a soubrette who is on her "uppers." Other acts on the bill are: Three Dolco Sisters, excellent singers; Malila and Bart, in an acrobatic sketch; James O. Wise, chalk artist; Hearn & Tuttle, dancers; Ida Donnette and her trick dog. The Hathaway holds new films.

Performances will be given every afternoon and evening during the remainder of the week, with special seats at the matinees for women.

STAR THEATRE

Two new vaudeville acts were featured of Thursday's program at the Star theatre. A new program of motion pictures was given this afternoon. Large audiences, composed in no small measure of women and children, witnessed both performances this afternoon. It is "the biggest and best show in Lowell," and the admission of five cents includes a seat.

REPORT OF ROADS

As Contained in County Commissioner's Report

In the report of the county commissioners just issued the following relative to roads in Lowell and the immediate vicinity is noted:

Early in the year a decree was made with reference to alterations at the crossing of the Lowell and Lawrence branch of the Boston and Maine railroad at Billerica street. The manner and limits of the alterations were prescribed. The railroad tracks are to be raised and the street depressed so as to obtain suitable head-room under the railroad for the roadway, which is to be widened. Sidewalks are also to be built.

A special commission appointed by the superior court will determine which parties are to carry out this work and also apportion the expense.

Dracut

During the past year $500 was paid the town on account of the county's share of the expense on Alken avenue.

This petition for a road along the northern bank of the Merrimack river has not been acted upon this year. This board is in readiness to make a decree if the Essex commissioners deem it wise to lay out the road in their territory.

This is the matter of specific repairs on Bridge street. The town refused to carry out the work ordered and the commissioners, under the statute made and provided, proceeded to complete the work.

After advertising for bids on June 15, the contract was awarded to H. W. Tarbell of Lowell, the lowest bidder, and the work proceeded until its completion, November 1. Two miles of road were surfaced 16 feet in width with fine broken stone laid on a coarse stone foundation averaging seven inches in thickness laid in the so-called Telford method. Local stone was used throughout. Culverts were rebuilt, guard-rail repaired, side drains laid in and in general the road put in thorough repair.

Tyngsboro

This petition mentioned in our report last year was dismissed from our docket as the town took the matter up, and satisfied the petitioners by laying out a road over the route proposed.

This petition followed by our decree enabled the road commissioners to make a desirable change in the road laid out by the town as referred to above. No damages were claimed and none were awarded, the change authorized being wholly on land of one Warley, and being at his request.

Westford

The county's share of the expense on account of the Carle road, amounting to $1000, was paid early in the year. The town during the past three years has expended about $7000 on this road under our direction.

Broadway, relocated in 1908, was completed the past year, drainage and surfacing having been attended to, leaving the street in good condition. Grades and directions were given by the engineer.

A portion of the work of specific repairs on roads at the centre was done under specifications prepared by the engineer. The workmen receiving competitive bids. The work cost a little over $1000. Main street was graded and graveled from opposite the post-office to the bottom of the hill near the road to Littleton. Paved gutters were laid and catch basins built to better care for the drainage.

This petition asks for the relocation of North street near Grantville village, from Gregg's corner to the Groton road. The street is to be laid out 10 feet in width, bounds set and walls and fences ordered removed from within the location. Decree is to issue in January, 1910.

Gardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Gardner, and sister of George and "Mimie" Gardner.

TOM LONGBOAT WON

PITTSBURG, Jan. 28.—Tom Longboat, the Indian runner last night beat Percy Smallwood, the Welshman, in a 12 mile indoor running race by four minutes. Longboat's time was 1 hour, 4 minutes, 37 seconds, while Smallwood, who finished almost five laps behind, did it in 1 hour, 13 minutes, 37 seconds.

A large crowd followed Mrs. Nation through the Red Light quarter Wed-

he was serving an eighteen months' sentence for fraudulent embezzlement in the navy. He obtained a dishonorable discharge by accusing himself of the atrocious crime. It is said that, having once discharged him, the government cannot imprison him again for the same offense. The killing of the young Schumacher girl on her father's grave after she had been assaulted aroused the country last August, but no clew was ever found to the murder. Hall declared at first that he had killed the girl and that his conscience would not let him rest until he had confessed the murder.

Millard F. Wood
104 MERRIMACK STREET

The Lawrence Eagle baseball writer after a flying trip over the circuit gives us the following size-up of the different cities:

LYNN

Since early fall Hamilton has been keeping busy at his home in Clinton signing up new material. He has a dozen or more pitchers listed for spring training. He will rely on Nuke Abbott, the Wakefield king pitcher, to again prove the stellar boxman of the league. In addition, he expects to have Girard, the Brooklyn boy, formerly with Little Rock and who finished the season with Lynn last year. "Kid" Conway, the only Lynn player of last year to be taken on by faster company, will wear a Lynn uniform, as his one year in professional ball is not considered enough to suit Manager Fred Lake of the Boston Doves, by whom he was purchased. Jesse Whitely, McIntyre and Barnicle are three other well-known pitchers on this circuit who are booked to play with Lynn. In addition Hamilton has under cover pitchers Cox, Sullivan, Wilkerson, Hanne, Smith and Finley. Smith and Sullivan are believed clever men.

Behind the bat will be Damm, the old Lynn catcher; Harry Ball, last year with the Doves; Baker and Hayden. Hayden is a college basketball player and comes well recommended. Pettie Burg, the smallest man playing in organized baseball in the country, will be on the third corner. He wants to come back to Lynn and while he is holding up his contract for a little increase in pay, it is known that he will be given a satisfactory settlement.

Cargo, a veteran at the game and considered a speedy man for short, will be in his position. He comes from the Troy, N. Y., club in exchange for Outfielder Wallace and Pitcher Hoff. With Cargo comes also Hillmund, the leftfielder of the Troy club, who figured in a deal with Shortstop Joe O'Rourke.

Billy Page, the Nashua player, will be back at second base. Billy Murphy, the former Lynn High school player, will be in the right garden. Hamilton will play the centre patch and Hillmund is booked for the left field, although Hamilton is said to have acquired him for the purpose of trade later.

NEW BEDFORD

The Whaletown advices say that Tommy Dowd is putting in a whole lot of time preparing the Whalers for the first. Since the organization of the New Bedford club, which occurred at the close of last season, Manager Dowd has been pulling the wires for players, and today he has 18 men on the list to do battle for the pennant. Of these nine are last season's men, players who have stood the test of a season's struggle.

The drafting of Roland Barrows and Crum made a big hole in the outfield, but Dowd has signed a couple of fast youngsters in the expectation of their plugging up the hole. Ed Small of St. John, N. H., is scheduled to burn up the league with his speed. He is said to be the fastest runner in New Brunswick, while he is a good hitter and bunter.

Tom Wade, a Bates college man, is a fast player who is expected to make good in the outfield, and with "Bus" Brown of last year's team to carry in centre, the outer gardens ought to be well looked after.

There are seven pitchers on the list. Four are left-overs from last season, and of these Armstrong and Griffith will probably make the team. Sperry's wildness may cause him to lose his job, as only four or five pitchers will be carried, and some of the new men are said to be wonders.

Dan McDonald of Medford is another pitcher of whom great things are expected. Leon Webb comes from Edgarton, N. Y., is a husky specimen of a youngster, said to have fine curves and lots of speed. O'Connor of last year's team makes the seventh twirler.

C. F. Sweatt of Medford has been signed to take the place of "Dutch" Welch, drafted by Brooklyn. He has been playing in the west, and recently toured the country with the Cherokee Indian team.

FALL RIVER

If Manager Jack O'Brien of the Fall River baseball team doesn't have a pennant-winning aggregation this coming season it will not be because he hasn't tried hard to get one. Contracts are out to the following members of last season's team: Andrews, Lemieux, Perkins, catchers; Wormwood, Pullerton, Reizer and Woods, pitchers; Solbra, Nichols, Weaver, McDermott, Devine and Bowcock, fielders. With these men as the foundation, Manager O'Brien has been building up his team for the coming season, and he has landed a number of new ones who certainly do look promising.

Manager O'Brien has landed Hugh Bedard, who hails from Falconer, N. Y. He holds a record of 45 strikeouts in 23 innings and that is more than any other pitcher has to his credit, so far as the records show. This twirler is looked upon as a great find. Another slah artist who looks good to Manager O'Brien is Frank Wilcox of Providence, who has been pitching for three years. Fred Blum, who pitched for the Roxbury club in Philadelphia last season, will also be given a tryout. J. A. Krolmer, who pitched for the Tacoma club of Philadelphia last season, has also been signed.

The receiving end of the battery will also be strengthened if possible, and to this end two catchers are to be given a trial. One of these is Harry M. Taikis, who comes from Philadelphia, and who played last season with the Roxbury club, which won the pennant of the semi-professional league in that vicinity. He is 22 years old, and Manager O'Brien has been told he is a catcher.

BROCKTON

Brockton will have practically a new team in the New England League this season, according to the latest dope sent out by Manager Steve Flanagan. Simmy Murch, the South Boston boy, who played such a sensational ball last season, was brought by Detroit, then sold to Indianapolis, where he will play. Ralph Cutting, who was bought by Pittsburg, will probably be drafted to some class A club.

Pembroke Flanagan, also a pitcher, goes back to Brooklyn. Eddie Goettol, who pitched good ball and who was farmed by Jersey City, returns there. Marty O'Toole, the South Framingham light, who was bought by the Red Sox, goes to St. Paul. Manager Sharf of Davenport, of the Three-I league offers a star outfielder in exchange for Kid Hickman, second baseman of the Brockton's. Make Donovan and "Mutt" Waters of Fall River are also due for other fields, but nothing definite is settled yet. Manager Dowd of New Bedford is after Donovan.

Flanagan has signed up Harry Fraser, last year the crack infielder of the Dorchester High team; Kimball of Wintthrop, an outfielder, last year in the Maine league; B. E. Brown, an outfielder of Dover, N. H., and Pitcher Warwick, last year loaned to Lawrence by Brockton. Pitcher Jack Hess, last year with Lawrence is also being considered. Besides these are Infielder Dulin of Green Bay, Wis., and Pitcher Emberly of Racine, who were secured from the Red Sox. "Klondike" Smith of Lawrence is also signed by Flanagan.

WORCESTER

Jesse Burkett of the Worcester champs who thrice won the pennant says he will have the flag on exhibition at Boulevard park at the end of the coming season.

Rondeau, the alternating outfielder and catcher; Bradley, first baseman; Pitcher have been drafted to the Red Sox. Yerkes in turn was let go to Chitanooga in the Southern Atlantic league for another year's farming with the minors. Rondeau comes back to Worcester, however.

Andy Owens, the twirler, and Shaw, third baseman, go to the White Sox of the American league. Of last year's team these veterans return to form the nucleus for the coming season's nine: Hugh McCune, catcher; Wilson and Tom Keady, pitchers; Tom Logan, second base and captain; Martin, the sub shortstop; Eddie Russell, left fielder; Kiernan, centre fielder, and Jesse Burkett—himself.

The newcomers are: Lambrecht, the shortstop from the Tri-State league team in Johnstown, Pa.; Haas, the first baseman from the Raleigh team of the Eastern Carolina league; Anthony of the Greensboro Carolina association team; Taylor and Moran, the Hopeville Independent team battery.

Taylor tried out as a twirler for the team two years ago and was relegated to the semi-pros for a little finishing polish.

HAVERHILL

Haverhill's baseball prospects are of the brightest in spite of heavy withdrawals from the ranks of the 1909 team. Tom Fleming of Lowell, an ex-big leagueer, has been selected to lead the club and he will play in the outfield.

The heaviest losses are of Boardman, star third baseman for several seasons, who with Briggs, the wiz-ard and heavy hitter, have gone to California. Cooney, who fitted in well at short and could pitch, who has been drafted by the Boston Nationals, and Courtney, right fielder, who has gone to the St. Louis big team.

Manager Fleming will find good material reserved for Haverhill, however. Mike O'Rourke, Krell and Lessard, last season's pitchers, having been retained, as well as White for 3d base; Merrill, who can fit in in the outfield or even in the box and Hart-up and will be given a tryout.

Some great finds were made last season, particularly in Lessard's case. He having proved a wonder when he was started although he was a doubtful proposition at the opening.

BOXING ROSSIP

Freddie Maguire will be a busy man next month for he has two important bouts on both at a distance from this city. On February 11th he will meet his old rival Mike Malle before the Queen City Athletic club in Manchester, N. H. while he is also matched with Kid Shea of Waterbury, Conn., at Danbury on the evening of February 15th.

The Gladstone club will start a series of weekly meetings at Associate hall on February 10th with a first prize of $1000. That will be announced within a few days. Jack O'Brien and Billy Clinton will be matched again as they made a big hit upon the occasion of their last appearance before the club and the members are desirous of seeing them again. Both men are doing light training in anticipation of another meeting at an early date.

Boxing bouts limited to eight rounds without decisions is the intent of a bill presented to the legislature by Edward Keavin, manager of Jimmy Walsh, the bantam-weight pugilist, and other boxers.

Keavin is connected with the American A. C., at which the no-decision scheme is being tried. The bill is as follows:

Whoever engages in or promotes a public boxing match or sparring exhibition for which the contestants have received or have been promised any pecuniary reward, either directly or indirectly, shall be punished as hereinafter provided where boxing is conducted, which is not in violation of the foregoing provisions of this act. No announcement of a winner or a loser shall be made by any referee or any other official present at any bout that exceeds four ordinary rounds, and no bout shall be permitted to continue longer than eight rounds of three minutes duration each. Any violation of the provisions of this act shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $200 or by imprisonment in the house of correction for a term not exceeding three months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Section 2.—Nothing in this act shall be construed as affecting sparring tournaments similar to those held by the Boston Athletic association.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1909 was

16,828

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilote, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

The committee on appropriations must lay the foundation for a year of economy.

Everybody should see the double tailed comet. This may be the only chance in a life-time.

We are all agreed upon the necessity of a public hall. The next thing is to select a site. That should be done as soon as possible.

THE MEAT BOYCOTT.

The Boston consumers are to begin a period of two weeks' abstention from the use of meat as a protest against the high prices. That may help bring the beef trust to a realization of the popular feeling towards its extortions.

WHITE PLAGUE POSTERS.

At the last national convention of bill posters it was voted to contribute a million dollars worth of large posters to the campaign against tuberculosis. Hon. Joseph J. Flynn of Lawrence, who owns the billboards in this section, was the leader in the movement, and as a result of his efforts the sum of $672 will be expended for educational work against tuberculosis in this city. The bills will soon be posted through the city and will doubtless attract attention.

OWNED THE TOWN OF LOWELL.

That letter of Mrs. Mary Brooks Reynolds of New Jersey, inquiring of the town clerk of Lowell, just how she can clear up the title of her ancestors to the land on which this city is built, is amusing in its simplicity. Evidently the good lady is not aware as to how her ancestors disposed of the title to the town of Lowell if they ever possessed it. We do not imagine, however, that there is much danger of quo warranto proceedings to cause every property owner in Lowell to show the validity of the title to his estate.

We have heard of other people who thought they or their forebears owned this city, but somehow none of them have been able to prove their title clear. These traditional claims of colonial days have seldom been found recorded.

TO PROTECT TOWNS.

The town treasurer of Framingham has made the town responsible for $1,186,000 of forged notes of which $320,000 are still outstanding. Some of the bogus notes were paid off while temporary loans were left outstanding for years. The legislature should lose no time in enacting a law that will make such transactions impossible. Governor Draper suggested that a law requiring the registry and certification of every note and loan order for a town would prevent the treasurer from perpetrating such outrageous frauds. That arrangement would serve, but some law of the kind should be passed promptly so that no dishonest official can hereafter rob a town as did Treasurer Lombard of Framingham.

TO PROMOTE INDUSTRIAL PEACE.

An important bill now before the legislature aims at preventing hasty strikes and lock-outs. It provides that if an employer declares a lock-out before having the dispute investigated by the state board he shall be fined not more than $10 a day for each employee locked out and not less than $100 for each day of the lock-out. On the other hand the employee who goes on strike without calling in the state board of arbitration is liable to a fine of $50 for every day he remains out.

While this would not be compulsory arbitration it would go far to prevent hasty action on either side, and in that light would do a vast amount of good. It is certainly as fair for one side as for the other, and if such a law would be constitutional, no harm could come from trying its effect for the promotion of industrial peace.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS VINDICATED.

The decision of Judge Hough in the U. S. district court of New York, quashing the indictment brought by the federal government against the New York World, is probably the last that will be heard of a case that was instigated through personal spleen, temporarily sustained by a strained construction of an old statute and practically unprecedented in history.

Similar proceedings based on the publication of the same article against the publishers of the Indianapolis News were thrown out of court, so that the legal machinery of the federal government has thus failed to establish its case for criminal libel against the defendants, the parties alleged to have been libelled being Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Taft, brother of the president, William P. Cronwell and others in reference to their connection with Panama canal purchase.

The fact that the government case has fallen through vindicates the privilege of the press to criticize public officials, and even to condemn their actions most severely when such criticism is honestly made in the interests of the public good, public justice and official honesty.

Had this suit been sustained the freedom of the press would have received a severe blow and the power that has been forcing reforms in municipal government and exposing rottenness and corruption throughout the land would have been seriously affected. Let us be thankful that in spite of occasional miscarriages of justice against the press and in spite of the unscrupulous journals that abuse their privileges, the power and the freedom of the press are still unimpaired and still guaranteed by constitutional rights against all unwarranted attacks.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Both the paying and the receiving teller in the Maiden Lane savings bank of New York, are young women. In a circular recently issued the officials of the bank commended these two women for their efficiency, accuracy and the general excellence of their work. Since they have been in office no shortage of cash has been found and they readily detect discrepancies in signatures and are unvaryingly punctual and courteous to patrons of the bank.

Prof. Willard C. Fisher of the department of economics, Wesleyan university, is mayor of Middletown, Conn., elected at the head of the democratic ticket. Professor Fisher was mayor in 1906 and 1907, and after two years' absence from office was returned with a majority of both voters and councilmen in sympathy with his policy.

Prof. John M. Tyler of Amherst will soon leave on an extended tour of Europe. He will return in September.

The clay model of the portrait statue of the late Thomas B. Reed, for Portland, Me., has been completed by the sculptor, Burr C. Miller, in his Paris studio, and those who have seen it speak in the highest terms of praise of the work. The figure is of heroic size, and, with the pedestal, the monument will have a height of eighteen feet. The statue is now being cast in bronze, and will probably be first shown in the coming season. It will then be shipped to Portland. The pedestal will be of Maine granite. It is hoped to have the monument ready for dedication some time next August. Samuel W. McCall of Massachusetts will be the orator of the day. The occasion will bring to Portland many distinguished men from all parts of the country.

The former empress of France, Eugenie, has once more given a categorical denial to the statement that she has written her memoirs. About six months ago her secretary printed a denial in the Paris Figaro and now he sends a letter to the Times declaring that "she has not written and is not writing any memoirs, and that any publication of that kind would be apocryphal." This letter bears the date January 3, 1910, which is the anniversary of the death of her husband, Napoleon III, in 1873. The denial was doubtless elicited by a statement made by Jules Claretie that a work has already been printed in several languages entitled "Memoirs of the Empress Eugenie," and that the authors of this work are only waiting for the death of the empress to issue it.

Rev. James A. Solandt, pastor of the Congregational church at Rutland, for the past five years, has resigned to accept a call from the Belleville, N. Y., Congregational church.

Major Dreyfus has made a successful appearance as a public lecturer in Paris, at the Bibliotheque Populaire, where he was invited to speak. The subject chosen had not the slightest reference to anything with which his name has hitherto been connected. It was the "History of Trade Union Syndicates in France," with which he showed that he was very familiar, though he was never in any way mixed up with it. As to his own personal views, he was rather sparing in expressing them. But he approved of the change in the recent laws which gave recognition to such syndicates and said that it would have been dangerous to withhold it much longer. On the other hand, he believed that there should be more syndicates of employers as a necessary counterpoise to the unions, and that it would help to check the revolutionary tendency of the labor associations.

Notice of the gift of $50,000, which a philanthropist proposes to bestow on the American university, the educational seat of the Methodist Episcopal church of the United States in Washington has come from the central west. The name of the benefactor has been withheld for the present, but the university authorities in announcing the intended endowment promise a statement of its purpose later.

Mrs. Josephine Daskam Bacon is reported as saying that she could earn $10,000 a year by her pen if she could give four hours a day to writing, but that she could not do that without neglecting her husband and family; and she thinks she could not be a woman suffragist for the same reason.

POLICE METHODS TREASURER HALL

Outlined by Members of the State Police

Arthur F. Roach, of the inspection department of the Massachusetts district police, and formerly connected with the police department of Worcester, spoke before the Men's league of the Worthen Street Baptist church last night.

He spoke of the methods employed in the finer phases of police work and explained the Bertillon system of measurement, which he said he believed superior to the finger print system. Both of these systems are in use right here in Lowell.

Mr. Roach explained how easy it is for a man detailed on police work to make a mistake. He referred to the mistakes made in measuring arrested persons while his trunk is closed.

The Bertillon system is very rarely used on women, and only on men charged with felonies.

The measurements never disclose any two persons alike. But the work must be done with the utmost caution. If this is not the case, then very serious complications may follow.

It is easy enough to arrest the wrong man, but rather harder to get the right individual, said Mr. Roach. Slight variations in measurements are allowed, one millimeter in the measurement of a man's head lengthwise and in the measurement of a man's foot, three millimeters are allowed.

He described the method of measuring. The cross, as the upright is called, is used to measure the stretch of arms, while a stool is backed against the upright, upon which the prisoner sits while his trunk is measured. Callipers are used for the measurement of the head and for the ear, a calliper square is used for the foot and hand, and a small rule for scars, birthmarks, etc.

The first measurement taken is that of the length of the head, from the bridge of the nose to the extreme part of the poll of the head. The second measurement is of the width of the head, from its widest points. Next the cheek width is taken, and after that the length of the right ear and the width of it. The perpendicular height is next taken, and after that the height of the trunk. The outstretched arms are measured from the tip of each hand and then measurements are taken of the left little finger, left middle finger, left forearm and left foot.

Referring to the photographing of a prisoner after his arrest, Mr. Roach said that sometimes considerable trouble is experienced. As a matter of record, however, he said that the photographs were not as important as the measurements.

Referring again to the measurements, he said that the perpendicular height of the prisoner is only taken in English inches. Of course the metric system of measurement is also used here. It is a peculiar fact, he stated, that the width of a man's outstretched arms is usually about four inches more than his perpendicular height. This is not a measurement of criminals especially.

One house breaker he had captured in Worcester had a stretch of arms seven inches more than his perpendicular height. This was, of course, abnormal.

In the description on the card furnished for that purpose, of a criminal's eyes, is of the most importance. Prof. Bertillon stated that there are 160 different shades of eyes. There is occasionally a difference in the color of the right and left eyes. The forehead is also described as to whether it is receding, overhanging, low, high, etc.

The nose as a feature of identification is next in importance to the eyes. The ridge is described, whether it is concave, convex, sinuous, etc. The lobes and rim of the ear are also included in the description. Teeth play little part in identification, because of the changes in them occasioned by modern dentistry.

Inspector Roach spoke of the finger print system of identification and read from Francis Galton's book on it. He said that former superintendent of police, William Moffatt, was one of the most enthusiastic believers in the system. He had ever seen it. He believed that the system had its strong points, but that it was much more complex than that of Prof. Bertillon. Coupled with the latter system, it made identification complete.

AFTER 4 YEARS OF MISERY

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Baltimore, Md.—"For four years my life was a misery to me. I suffered from irregularities, terrible dragging sensations, extreme nervousness, and the feeling of all gone feeling in my stomach. I had given up hope of ever being well when I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Then I felt as though new life had been given me, and I am recommending it to all my friends."—Mrs. W. S. Fenn, 2207 W. Franklin St., Baltimore, Md.

The most successful remedy in this country for the cure of all forms of female complaints is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has stood the test of years and to-day is more widely and successfully used than any other female remedy. It has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means had failed.

If you are suffering from any of these ailments, don't give up hope until you have given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

Will Aid in Examining Bank's Books

SOUTHBRIDGE, Jan. 28.—From the seclusion of his home, where he had immured himself, following his voluntary surrender and release, in $50,000 bonds, John A. Hall, the former bank treasurer, whom his fellow officials of the Southbridge Savings Bank accuse of large defalcations, last night made it plain that he intended to aid the bank's efforts in the expert examination now being made of the books in an attempt to determine the exact amount believed to be missing.

Mr. Hall let it be known that he would go over the bank's books with the examiners as soon as possible, probably on Monday.

Hall's physical condition is such, it is believed, as to preclude any earlier activity on his part. He is said to be a nervous wreck. His breakdown yesterday, just before his arraignment in the district court at Webster on the specific charge of the larceny of $21,000 from the bank, showed how little control he had over his emotions at present.

An effort will be made by his family and friends to restore his physical condition to something like a normal state before his case is considered by the grand jury in May.

Calvin D. Paige, president of the bank, last night in a short interview, said that Hall's apparent defalcation, in the light of the examination, so far as it has gone, was about $150,000. It was not likely, he said, that this amount would be exceeded much, although it was impossible to tell definitely.

It is possible that a special session of the grand jury may be called to expedite the legal case against Hall. The depositors, whose money is tied up by the bank's closing, are especially eager for speedy action.

District Attorney George S. Taft, of Worcester, when asked about a special grand jury session last night said: "There may be one, but I do not anticipate any such move yet. I shall, however, study the case closely myself for the next two or three days."

Asked whether or not other names besides that of Hall were connected with the case, he replied, "None yet." Mr. Taft, however, made it evident that the case would be probed to the bottom.

The bank trustees after a protracted meeting, issued the following statement: "Upon investigation, the trustees found numerous irregularities existing in the accounts of former Treasurer John A. Hall. The exact amount involved has not and cannot be definitely determined until the experts now at work have completed their examination."

JAS. J. HILL

SAYS HOUSEKEEPER SHOULD GO TO MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—James J. Hill, the railroad builder, and one of the first to issue a warning against national extravagance and its reflection in the advanced cost of living, said yesterday that the problem lies in the discretion of the housewife.

"If a housekeeper," said Mr. Hill, "instead of standing in front of a telephone to order the family supplies, goes to the market and learns what foods are cheap and what are dear, there would be less of this kind of talk. As I have said before, this high cost of living is the cost of living high."

Mr. Hill denied that there is any indication of financial uneasiness over the attitude of the government toward corporations. Asked to what he attributed the depression of the stock market he answered laconically: "Lysleria."

LYMAN ABBOTT

FAVORS A DEFENSIVE AND CO-OPERATIVE ALLIANCE

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—A defensive and cooperative alliance between England, Japan and America, was proposed last night by Dr. Lyman Abbott, at the dinner given Baron Kichuji by the resident consul general of Japan.

"The great idea of the century," said Dr. Abbott, "is world peace. It is only a question of time when the common conscience will take place of great guns. Why should the nations wait? Why should not England, Japan and America stand shoulder to shoulder, arm in arm, for all that means the progress of universal peace and against all their enemies?"

Prolonged applause interrupted Dr. Abbott. When it had subsided he resumed: "Japan leads in the east, America in the west and England is the greatest power in Europe. These countries represent the three great sections of the globe."

"There are two ways of maintaining peace," said Dr. Abbott. "One is to be so weak as to be unable to fight and the other is to be too strong to be afraid. We in America believe in strength."

TAFT'S BILL

FOR FEDERAL INCORPORATION ACT READY TO BE INTRODUCED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—After being subjected to the closest scrutiny of prominent lawyers and undergoing repeated revision, the bill embodying the ideas of President Taft and his cabinet for a federal incorporation act now is ready to be introduced in congress. Its preparation represents months of labor by Attorney General Wickham and Secretary Nagel in getting up a measure that best will serve the interests of the courts and safeguard the public interests.

Presumably in its main feature the bill is in accord with the president's message on the subject and the preliminary draft which was published several weeks ago.

Corporations given a charter under the bill will be held to a strict accountability for the observance of its provisions, for no less than three methods are available to dispossess them of the privilege of doing business. These are the right of congress to alter, amend or repeal a charter; the right of the commissioner of corporations who issues the charter to sue for a receiver in case of a violation of any of its features; or for alleged insolvency, and the right of the attorney general to bring proceedings for annulment for violations of the Sherman anti-trust act. Proceedings instituted by the commissioner or by the department of justice may be resisted by injunction or by other legal means.

Advocates of the bill believe it is gaining some favor in congress.

SKIN DISEASES READILY CURED BY A SIMPLE HOME TREATMENT

Persons who are suffering from blackheads, pimples, dandruff, eczema, tetter, ring-worm, or any form of skin disease, often ask the question, "Is there any cure?"

Mr. Dows, the druggist, says, "yes, there is a cure. ZEMO, a scientific, clean, liquid preparation for external use, gives prompt relief and permanently cures every form of skin and scalp disease. ZEMO draws the germ life and poisons from underneath, the skin to the surface and destroys them and in this way affects a complete cure of any form of skin or scalp disease, whether on infants or grown persons. ## TAX COLLECTOR

Is Charged With Embezzling $7200

WELLESLEY, Jan. 28.—Clarence H. Dadmun, aged 35 years, tax collector of the town of Wellesley, was arrested last night, charged with the embezzlement of the sum of $7200 of the funds of the town. He was locked up.

George A. Sweetser, chairman of the board of selectmen, claims that Collector Dadmun has confessed the defalcation and that the thefts have extended over the past two years.

Chairman Sweetser last night stated that some weeks ago the attention of the board of selectmen was called to the fact that many checks of citizens sent in for payment of taxes had not been cashed by the office of the treasurer, Fred Johnson, Tax Collector. Dadmun was asked to produce them, but some were not forthcoming. The town treasurer notified the board that the collector had not kept up the duplicate tax collector's record in the office of the treasurer as required by law. Dadmun was immediately ordered to produce the duplicate record and the town auditor, Thomas D. Coleman, notified to examine the accounts.

According to Chairman Sweetser, Collector Dadmun thereupon called upon him in his office in Boston yesterday and acknowledged to him that his accounts were $7200 short.

Dadmun was taken back to Wellesley and made his statement before the full board, including Joseph Seife, Hiram B. Myers, and Chairman Sweetser. He was placed under arrest, and the bonding company, which secured him in the sum of $1500, was notified.

The embezzlements are supposed to cover the past two years according to the collector's and treasurer's books some $500 to $10,000 appearing as uncollected for the year 1908, and nearly $80,000 for the year 1909. Previously the taxes had been collected in full and accounted for. Clarence H. Dadmun is about 35 years of age and has lived in Wellesley practically all his life. He is a carpenter and contractor and has held the position of tax collector for four years. He is unmarried.

John C. Ryan, clerk of the board of selectmen, was last night appointed tax collector pro tem.

HOLY ANGELS

SODALITY HELD AN ENJOYABLE SOCIAL

An enjoyable social was held by the Holy Angels sodality of the Sacred Heart church in the school hall Wednesday evening with a large attendance. The affair was in charge of Miss Nora Ryan, president; assisted by the officers of the sodality.

The following program was rendered: Opening hymn, "Mother Dear, O Pray for Me," sodality recitation, "The Goodly Bonnet," Misses N. Lynch, M. Mahan, C. Connelly; piano solos, the Misses Katherine Boyle, Fannie Parker, Julia Harrington, Mary Dillon; recitation, "An Old Woman's Adventure," Miss Susie Cowell; duet, Misses Mary Dillon and Lilla Durkin; recitation, "Dance of the Gnomes," Miss Susie Cowell; recitation, "Why Should the Spirit of Mortal be Proud?" Miss Fay Brennan; song, Miss Lucy Sharkey, accompanied by chorus of little girls; recitation, Miss Katherine Kenney and Miss Esther Shaw; closing hymn, "Holy God," sodality.

After the entertainment, refreshments were served and dancing enjoyed. Misses N. Ryan, S. Cowell and J. Harrington were the accompanists for the evening.

Present during the evening were the pastor, Rev. Fr. Smith, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. Fletcher, Tighe and Burrell, O. M. I., all of the Sacred Heart parish.

NEW STARS DISCOVERED

Several new stars have been added to the list of new discoveries. They were first brought to notice by Mr. George Lowell Tracy, of Boston, and will be known as the Tracy stars. They will be visible on the evenings of Feb. 2nd and 3rd, next Wednesday and Thursday, after 8 o'clock at the Opera House during the production of "The Maid and the Midway."

Mr. Tracy, the discoverer of stars, says this performance will be bigger than a professional show. In addition to the new and old stars there are some specialty numbers that are simply great. The Snow Babies by twelve little girls is a beautiful dancing number. The Dutchies, eight little boys and girls, is a truly droll. The Maids and the Midwives have a charming sketch. The Irish and Scotch numbers are clever and new. It's a great, big musical show, with bright, tuneful music, quick action and there's not a dull moment in it.

The performance and rehearsals are directed by the Mr. Tracy. Special scenery and costumes will be used, and no expense spared to ensure a successful production.

Lowell council, K. of C. is sponsor for the show and tickets are being sold by the members, to be exchanged on Friday for coupon tickets at the Opera House.

Yo ho! Yo ho! for the Maid and the Midway.

RECEIVER NAMED

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 28.—Alfonso Arriagun, an attorney, was appointed receiver yesterday of the United States Banking company, which suspended operations yesterday after a run of a day and a half. It is impossible now to give any definite idea of the standing of the banks finances. Most of the stock was held in Mexico.

LAMY IS CHAMPION

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Jan. 28.—Edmund Lamy, of Saranac Lake, N. Y., held his championship title in the indoor skating races here Wednesday and last night and made four new records. Last night he reduced the mark for the half mile from 1:20.2 to 1:17.3. In the three-quarter mile he reduced J. S. Johnson's time of 2:19 made in 1904, to 2:04.1-5.

PRICE OF BEEF

Has Taken a Drop in Boston

BOSTON, Jan. 28.—The boycott on meat has begun to have a considerable effect on the trade in Boston, and prices have taken their first substantial drop, according to the acknowledgment of leading provision-dealers of the city last night. Dealers in the big Quincy and Faneuil hall markets report a marked falling off in trade and anticipate an even greater slackness in the coming two weeks, when the general boycott called for two weeks is expected to take effect.

The prices of the cheaper grades of meat have been the first to show the effects of the cut in prices, rib cuts getting down to 11 cents a pound yesterday, the cheapest for years. Lamb has dropped two cents, pork two cents and stein and top of round from three to five cents a pound.

There is less buying of the higher grades of meats, according to the dealers, the public taking advantage of the early cut in the lower grades.

In the meantime the trade in fish has

THE TROLLEYMEN

COMMEND LEADERS FOR DELAYING THE STRIKE

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 28.—Trolley-men employed on the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company who last week voted to strike whenever their leaders deemed it opportune, last night in another meeting passed a resolution commending the leaders for delaying the strike order and endorsing the stand that every means to obtain arbitration be sought before the order to leave the cars is given.

C. O. Pratt, the national organizer, presented to the meeting a communication from the Central Labor union urging that the strike be delayed until a series of mass meetings now being arranged by the various unions be held. At these meetings it is hoped to demonstrate that the sympathy of the public is with the street car men and thereby influence the transit company officials to treat with them on a more friendly basis. Should this means fail, the Central Labor Union promises to stand by the car men in the event of a strike.

AMES IS BUSY

Hard at Work in His Campaign for Senator

BOSTON, Jan. 28.—Representative Butler Ames of Lowell is still on his U. S. senatorial job at the Union club. Yesterday he met at luncheon Senator Denny of Worcester and Representative Willette of Fall River, Ellis of Barnstable, Holden of Stoneham and Robinson of Chelsea.

Senator Nason of Haverhill was the intermediary through whom the introductions were made. Postmaster Cox of Lawrence, it is claimed, is also "interested for the war" unless Postmaster General Hitchcock interferes on the ground of "pernicious activity."

Today other legislators are invited to lunch with Mr. Ames and talk over the situation. Unless Mr. Ames arranges for larger luncheon parties, it will take him a month to meet the republican members of the legislature.

His friends say that he prefers to meet a few at a time, as he can talk with each individually and in this way become better acquainted with them. Besides, it gives the members who have never met him before a much better opportunity to exchange views on the political situation in the state.

It was said that Mr. Ames made a favorable impression on his guests of yesterday and that they showed a lively interest in what he had to say in outlining his opposition to the senator.

It is reported that Mr. Ames impressed upon his guests that he is in the fight to stay and expressed confidence in his ability to win.

Since coming to Boston it is said Mr. Ames has encouraged a number of state senatorial aspirants and promised them substantial support, should they be candidates for next year's senate.

DO NOT TAKE SIDES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The telegram from Boston printed in the morning newspapers that Representative Butler Ames had formally announced himself a candidate to succeed Mr. Lodge in the senate did not attract great attention here, because it has been known for months that Mr. Ames intended to contest the senatorship with Mr. Lodge, as was told in the Washington dispatches about a year ago. Members of the Massachusetts delegation were not inclined to discuss the matter yesterday and contented themselves with brief expressions of opinion.

Senator Lodge said: "I have heard that Mr. Ames is a candidate. I do not care to say anything about it."

Senator Crane said: "I cannot discuss Mr. Ames' candidacy."

Representative Gillett said: "I favor Mr. Lodge for senator. My relations with Mr. Ames are extremely friendly, but I think that Mr. Lodge is one of the strongest statesmen in the country and I hope and expect that Massachusetts will keep him in the senate, where his service is most distinguished and useful."

Representative Weeks said: "I do not care to say anything about Mr. Ames' candidacy. In fact, I have not thought about it. I am not a candidate for senator."

Representative Tirrell said: "I am in favor of the re-election of Senator Lodge and believe he will be endorsed by an overwhelming majority of the legislature of 1911."

"In some respects he has not his equal in the senate. What is not so well known, or at least appreciated, is his devotion to Massachusetts. He is an indefatigable worker in her interests. No service in her behalf seems trivial to him. He is a reliable and loyal republican. While accused of bossism, I have never known him in nine years in the public service of his attempting in the slightest degree to interfere with or attempt to control in congress the action of his associates in the house. His long service has given him a commanding position in the country and the republican party of Massachusetts will not willingly permit him to retire."

Representative Greene said: "I unhesitatingly declare myself in favor of the re-election of Senator Lodge. While hearing his opponent the kindest personal feeling it seems to me it would be a great political mistake to make any change in the present representation of the commonwealth in the senate."

Representative Washburn did not care to say anything about the matter, nor did Representatives Kelher, Peters and O'Connell. The democrats refused on the ground that they had not seen Mr. Ames' announcement. Reps. Lovering and Gardner are ill and Representative Roberts is absent from the city.

ADMIRAL DYER

Passed Away at His Home in Melrose

MELROSE, Jan. 28.—Rear Admiral Nehemiah Mayo Dyer, U. S. N., retired, died at 4.30 yesterday afternoon at his home, 16 Vine street, after a few hours' illness. Wednesday he returned to Melrose from Washington and appeared to be in good health, but yesterday he became ill with stomach trouble. Dr. F. D. Perley was called in and remained with him until he died.

An autopsy was performed last night under the direction of Admiral Dyer's nephew, Dr. Joseph H. Pratt of Boston, which showed that death was caused by cancer of the bowels. Traces also were found of ptomaine poisoning, thought to have been caused by oysters and chicken which the admiral had eaten yesterday on the train on his way home from Washington.

A quiet funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at his home. Burial will be in Wyoming cemetery.

Admiral Dyer had gone to Washington to carry before the U. S. supreme court his suit to recover about $40 from the city of Melrose. Three years ago the city, under the income tax law, assessed $2000 which Admiral Dyer had in a bank. He claimed that this was his salary from the government and as such was not taxable, and he sought to recover the amount of the tax through the courts. He was defeated in the lower and the state courts, and early this week the federal court decided in favor of the city.

Rear-Admiral N. Mayo Dyer was as brave and accomplished an officer as ever trod the quarterdeck of a man-of-war. He measured up to the full standard of American naval traditions and his memory will be enshrined in the hearts of the people with Barry, Jones, Perry, Decatur, Farragut and all the other heroes whose deeds have made the fighting history of the American navy the most brilliant of any in the world. He was a Massachusetts boy, born among the whalers and the hardy fishermen of Provincetown, in March, 1839.

AN EXPERT

IS GOING OVER ACCOUNTS OF TAX COLLECTOR

WELLESLEY, Jan. 28.—An examination of the acts of Tax Collector C. H. Dadmun, who is said to have confessed yesterday to the embezzlement of $7270 of the town's funds, was begun today by an expert accountant about the same time that Dadmun was taken to the district court at Dedham for a hearing. That two town officials should have proved untrustworthy during the past eight years was a shock to the citizens. Former Town Treasurer Albert Jennings confessed to a forgery of $60,000 in 1902 and spent some time in a state institution for criminal insane. Dadmun stated before leaving for Dedham today that he hoped to have bondsmen ready, provided the court did not make the amount too large.

An Apology

TO MY CUSTOMERS AND THE GENERAL PUBLIC:

Up until the blizzard of Dec. 26th last, with the exception of a few weeks in the middle fall, I had made it a custom to deliver all orders promptly the day I received them, but for the last three weeks travel has been so poor, and the demand for coal, wood and coke has been so great, although equipped with eighteen teams, and a larger stock of fuel than any dealer in Lowell, it has been utterly impossible for me to give prompt delivery to all my friends and patrons. I simply did the best I could, and now, each order out in rotation as received. I am now, however, glad to say that I am up to my orders, and in a position to give prompt delivery to all the rest of the trade that is sent my way. Mail and telephone calls will receive immediate attention.

THE ONION JAG

Added to Pitfalls for Erring Man

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Unsuspected forces in the lowly onion were revealed when George Prunner appeared before Magistrate Fred Goettmann, and the onion jag was added to the catalogue of pitfalls for erring man. "I was going to call on a friend who has consumption," explained the prisoner, "and my doctor advised me to eat some onions first to avoid contagion. I did. They went to my head and things began to whirl. I don't remember what happened after that," he added plaintively. "I didn't know onions ever affected folks like that." Prunner was discharged and left, followed by a crowd anxious to learn where he got the onions.

"Fine and dandy."

They shook hands and went home to supper.
As I was shaving him I found a scar on his face I put there myself when we were playing Indians twenty years ago," Thomas Rich said. "We were separated when boys and had lost each other for twenty years."

F. Smith, who furnished Mrs. W. W. Wilson with four children which the latter tried to palm off several days ago on her husband as quadruplets born to her. Mrs. Smith's story was told in the investigation before Judge Wilbur regarding the parentage of the four children which Mrs. Wilson had admitted were not hers.

THE GRAND JURY PRICE OF MILK

To Probe the Alleged Bribery Attempt

May be Doubled, Says Rep. Gardner

LAWRENCE, Jan. 28.—That the grand jury is to investigate the rumors of attempted bribery in connection with the alleged effort to oust Chief Engineer James A. Hamilton of the fire department was given confirmation yesterday when State Officer Fred T. Flynn served subpoenas upon witnesses to appear before the grand jury in this city next Tuesday. Two newspapermen are among those upon whom the notices were served.

The investigation is the result of publicity given to reports that an alleged attempt had been made to have an alderman absent himself from a meeting of the upper board of the city government so as to make possible the ousting of the chief engineer. The alderman was deadlocked over the issue. It is understood. The reports went so far as to tell of the alleged passing of $1000 to a friend of the alderman. The money was eventually returned, the report had it.

The alderman is credited with having told the story of the attempt to influence him.

ARE MICROBES IN YOUR SCALP?

It Has Been Proved That Microbes Cause Baldness

Professor Unna of Hamburg, Germany, and Dr. Sabouraud, the leading French dermatologist, discovered that a microbe causes baldness. Their theory has been amply verified through research experiments carried on under the observation of eminent scientists. This microbe lodges in the sebaceous glands of the scalp, and when permitted to flourish it destroys the hair follicles and in time the pores entirely close, and the scalp gradually takes on a shiny appearance. When this happens there is no hope of the growth of hair being revived.

Dandruff is a contagious disease, which is largely due to a destructive microbe, which when left to pursue its course causes itching scalp, falling hair and baldness. Dandruff is caused by the microbe affecting the glands which produce the sebaceous matter, which later then unnaturally dries up and scales off.

We have a remedy, which will, we honestly believe, remove dandruff, exterminate the microbe, promote good circulation in the scalp and around the hair roots, tighten and revitalize the hair roots and overcome baldness, so long as there is any life left in the hair roots.

We back up this statement with our own personal guarantee that this remedy called Rexall "33" Hair Tonic will be supplied free of all cost to the user if it fails to do as we state.

It will frequently restore gray and faded hair to its original color, proved loss of color has been caused by disease; yet it is in no sense a dye. Rexall "33" Hair Tonic accomplishes these results by making every hair root, follicle and pigment gland strong and active, and by stimulating a natural flow of coloring pigment throughout the hair cells.

Rexall "33" Hair Tonic is entirely free from grease or sediment, is exceedingly pleasant to use and will not gum the hair or permanently soil the clothing or pillow.

We exact no obligations or promises—we simply ask you to give it a thorough trial and if not satisfied tell us and we will refund the money you paid us for it. Two sizes, prices 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain it in Lowell only at our store, The Rexall Store, Hall & Lyon Co., 67-69 Merrimack street.

BOSTON, Jan. 28.—Milk at 15 cents a quart is promised by Representative Charles M. Gardner of Westfield, master of the Massachusetts State Grange, if the milk inspection bill now before the committee on public health becomes a law.

The milk bill is petitioned for by the Women's League and has been supported at the state house hearings by Dr. Theobald Smith.

The discussion over the milk inspection bill has developed into a row in which the state board of health, which under the bill is given sweeping power, is meeting bitter opposition from the farmers, who say that any more inspection will drive them out of Massachusetts.

Chairman Prentiss Parker of the committee, who presented the bill for the petitioners, refused to permit Secretary Ellsworth of the state board of agriculture to speak before the committee yesterday afternoon. He said that Secretary Ellsworth had criticized the inspection of the state board and that he has already spoken in remonstrance.

Mr. Gardner declared after the hearing that if the drastic provisions of the milk regulation bill went into effect it would mean 15 cent milk for Massachusetts.

"Twenty years ago," said Gardner, "there were about 30,000 more cows in the state than there are now. Already our regulations are so much more severe than the regulations of other states that the farmers move into New Hampshire and elsewhere in order to continue their business. We get the milk from New Hampshire, now that ought to be produced in Massachusetts. The farmer simply cannot stand the inspection that he is getting."

"If you pass this bill you place everything in the hands of a central body which has no practical knowledge of milk production. They are health men, not milk men. You won't get any better milk. You will simply get milk at a higher price from another state."

J. L. Harrington of Lunenburg, secretary of the Massachusetts Cattle Owners association, said that the state board of health is not only ignorant of the milk situation in Massachusetts, but is incompetent to deal with the matter.

W. A. Graustein, president of the Boston Dairy company, declared that his company had been persecuted by the state board of health under regulation which now prevail.

Burton W. Foster of Worcester, president of the Massachusetts Cattle Owners association, in his argument against the bill, said the chief objection to it lies in the fact that the state board of health has no practical training in the handling of the milk business.

"Upon me," he declared, "and in due time the greater part of the land in Massachusetts will be covered with brush and the prices of the necessities of life will be higher than they now are. If you want to do something to guarantee the sanitary production of milk let three men from the state board of health co-operate with the dairy bureau in framing some reasonable and uniform regulations applicable to dairy men in every city and town of the commonwealth."

PUBLIC HALL

FRENCH-AMERICANS PLAN ONE OF THEIR OWN

A movement for a Franco-American public hall to be erected somewhere near St. Jean Baptiste church was inaugurated at the recent meeting of Citizens Americans and a mass meeting will be held in C. M. A. C. hall one week from Sunday.

The plan is to have a fine brick building, with offices and stores to let, but whose chief feature will be a large and convenient assembly hall for French Americans. Such a building is now found in Lawrence, known as Franco-American hall, and also in Haverhill. Both these occupy sites in the finest business sections of these cities, and are buildings to be proud of.

At Wednesday's meeting 10 citizens subscribed $100 each toward the building fund.

FALSE HAIR HARMFUL

Now that so much artificial hair is the fashion it is more necessary than ever that women should keep their scalps thoroughly cleansed because the present style of hairdressing is very heating and irritating to the scalp. The result is that dandruff, the scalp itches and the hair falls out. To guard against this condition, the scalp and hair should be washed frequently with Birt's Head Wash, a delicately perfumed preparation which has the formula printed on every package. If there is any doubt in your mind about the formula being good, ask your doctor what he thinks of it. Here it is: Refined Soap, Salicylic Acid, White of Egg, Coconut Oil and Glycerine.

GIVES UP WIFE

To the Man She Says She Loves

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—In a written statement witnessed by the German consul here, Karl Jörn, the German tenor, made public last night the terms of his separation from his wife, Rosa Rusk, he surrenders his wife to the man she loves.

"I have agreed," says Jörn, "that she get a divorce so she can marry the man of her choice. Furthermore, I have bound myself to pay her $25,000 in cash and $1000 a year until she is married again. To our three children I give $1000 a year for the rest of their lives. I gave my wife all the money I had before she sailed and I did not even have 50 cents to buy her a bunch of violets at the time."

Jörn blessed his wife affectionately before she sailed last week for Germany. He met her when a young man struggling for success, and their life until recently had been very happy together.

DROP IN PRICES

MEAT GOES DOWN IN NEW YORK CITY

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Effects of the anti-meat cartel still strongly reflected in local markets today. While accessions to the list of no-meat-for-thirty-days families are perhaps less numerous the impetus of the initial movement is still strong enough to influence prices which continue to drop somewhat at wholesale houses. As somewhat that the Saturday day marketers would find themselves able to replenish their orders at from 10 to 20 per cent less cost than a week ago.

Three Policemen Dismissed From Force

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Commissioner Baker of the police department dismissed three men from the force yesterday for brutal assaults upon citizens. Information of this action, Mayor Gaynor wrote the commissioner as follows:

"I am very much gratified by this prompt action. Let all such men on the force be treated in the same way. Let the whole force know once and for all that it will be deemed a greater offense to commit unlawful battery on a citizen, or unlawfully to enter a house, than to let a criminal escape."

Elias A. McQuade, Patrick Kelley and Andrew H. Fendergast, have gone to Hot Springs, Ark. They will be gone five weeks and on the return trip they will take in the Mardi Gras carnival at New Orleans.

HOW TO CURE A TERRIFIC HEADACHE.

Many people suffer with an aching head week after week, occasionally getting relief from so-called headache powders and nerve stupefying drugs. They never get cured because they start wrong. Such people should do a little commonsense thinking. Headache is simply the result, a warning signal, of a far more serious trouble. Usually it means bad blood poisoned by an inactive or sluggish liver. Headache sufferers are often nervous, cross and irritable. Their sleep is disturbed and digestion impaired. The liver doesn't do its work right, and the bile elements poison both nerve and brain.

Smith's Pineapple and Butternut Pills remove the cause of headache. They are Nature's true laxative, and give tone to liver activity, sea positive specific for biliousness and a torpid liver. Get your liver right by using Smith's Pineapple and Butternut Pills and your head work ache, your nerves won't weaken, nor your food distress you. Physicians use and recommend. They form no habit. You should always keep them on hand. These little Vegetable Pills will ward off many ills.

A SUICIDE PACT

Young Lovers Were Found Dead

DES MOINES, Jan. 28.—Because of parental objection to their marriage, on account of their youth, Vernon Barr, aged 18, and Lina Ammer, aged 14, killed themselves yesterday. They were found near Monroe, clasped in each other's arms, sitting upright in young Barr's buggy, in which they were riding home from a dance. On the girl's lap rested a cup partly filled with strychnine and water. They both had drunk of this. Their horse proceeded on his way and stopped at the gate of the girl's home.

LOWELL DIRECTORY

SOME FEATURES OF THE DIRECTORY FOR THE PRESENT YEAR.

The Lowell Directory for 1910 is out and the volumes are being distributed throughout the city by the local agent of the Sampson & Mawhood company of Boston. This year's edition is somewhat similar to those published in recent years and besides the directory proper contains much valuable information. In the book is a map of Lowell showing the various streets and ward lines, a street directory, business directory and record of the city government, institutions, societies, organizations, etc. Last year there were 48,634 names in the book and this year 48,226 were added and 2,562 erased, making a total of 50,460 names in the volume, an increase of names of 1674 over last year.

Included in the directory are the names of 1156 persons who have died or removed from the city since the 1909 directory was published, with the date of death, etc.

The first name in the book is that of "Charles E. Abbe, hoseman, hose 10, 28 Fourth street, house, 51 Fifth street," while the last is that of "Macle Zyzlewicz, operative, boards 18 Bent's court."

The Smiths, as usual, hold the honor of having the largest number of names in the book, though the Sullivan's gave them a hot battle this year. There are 353 Smiths and if a person is looking for John Smith he will find himself up against a pretty perplexing proposition, for there are 25 John Smiths in the book. Of that number ten are plain Johns and they reside in almost as many parts of the city.

There are 282 people who bear the name of Sullivan in the directory. There are 42 Johns, 25 Marys and 18 Michaels. A peculiar thing about the Mary Sullivans is that ten of them are widows.

The name Murphy appears 283 times in the book. There are 215 Browns and 215 Rileys, to say nothing of those that spell their names Kelly, and there are 164 who bear the name of Burns. Speaking of the Donaghes there are 127, but they spell their names in seven different ways. Those who spell their name Donaghe number 48, while 23 write their name Donohoe; Donaghe is the way 18 people sign their names and 24 write it Donoghue; eight use an "e" in the middle and spell their name Donohue, five go by the name of Donaghu and four are Donoghue.

WAGE INCREASE

To be Demanded by 4000 Employees

HARTFORD, Jan. 28.—Demands for a wage increase, it is expected, will be made on the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad by the four thousand trolley men on the company's lines in this state, and Massachusetts, following the meeting here next Monday of the New England joint conference board of Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees. The demand, it is understood, will be for a maximum wage of 30 cents an hour. There may also be presented a request for an increase of overtime pay. The lowest maximum wage paid now is 23 cents an hour in Middletown. The best, 25 cents an hour, prevails in this city and New Haven. The men work about ten hours a day.

GOVERNOR SPRY

ISSUED NO FINAL STATEMENT ON BIG FIGHT

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 28.—"I have issued no final statement on the Jeffries-Johnson fight," said Gov. William Spry, last night, "and will not do so now until next week. Looking carefully into the law on the subject though, I see no reason to change from my original attitude against the fight. However, I don't want to rush into this thing blindly. It may be that no statement will be needed."

SMALL-POX

HOUSEHOLDERS CAUTIONED

How to Avoid Contagion

Vaccination and the use of a reliable disinfectant are recognized as the best preventives. The last thing at night pour into the traps of the closets, wash basins, sinks, etc., just a little Platts Chlorides. Places where disease germs may develop, nooks behind plumbing and all spots that can't be reached by the scrubbing brush should be freely sprinkled with a mixture of one (1) part of Platts Chlorides and ten (10) parts of water. This dilution costs less than 5 cents a quart. Do not neglect a liberal sprinkling of the cellar. To remove objectionable odors where sprinkling is inadvisable, keep a cloth or sponge moistened with the dilution mentioned. A little extra care just now may prevent much sickness and expense. Platts Chlorides is an odorless, colorless liquid disinfectant which instantly destroys foul odors and disease-breeding matter. It is sold by druggists everywhere in full quart bottles, and is prepared only by Henry B. Platt.

Book with sanitary information mailed free on writing to 42 Cliff street, New York.

SEVERAL ARRESTS

Race Riot in Mill in Amesbury

AMESBURY, Jan. 28.—A race riot, started by a dozen Greeks and Armenians in the Merrimac Hat company here yesterday, resulted in the arrest of half a dozen Greeks and the removal to the hospital of three others. The trouble grew out of the alleged supplanting of Armenian workmen by Greeks in the rug department of the factory.

Up to a short time ago there were practically all Armenians in the department. When the trouble started yesterday there were only two Armenians in the department and 10 Greeks.

The trouble has been brewing, it is said, for some time, so that the fight started with very little provocation yesterday. So far as can be learned the fight centered about Charles Macke, an Armenian, and Kristos Jares, a Greek. Macke was removed to the hospital suffering from a blow on the back of his head with an axe. When the trouble first started he defended himself with a club and as that proved too clumsy in the close quarters of the room he pulled out a dirk.

LICENSE BOARD

Refused to Revoke Hotel License

SALEM, Jan. 27.—The board of license commissioners met last evening and took action on the complaint of Mayor Howard against the Colonial house.

The board last night decided not to revoke the license and adopted an order presented by Commissioner McSweeney setting forth that the evidence introduced by the mayor in his complaint was "insufficient to satisfactorily prove a violation of any law of the commonwealth or of the conditions of the license so as to warrant a forfeiture of suspension of the license."

Commissioners McSweeney and Trumbull voted for the order and Chairman Saunders voted against it. The commissioners also voted to order that Alexander S. Kotarek to remove all tables and chairs from his licensed saloon on Derby street, their presence being a violation of the provisions of his license.

HELD FOR BREAK

Boy Said to Have Stolen $15

WINCHESTER, Jan. 28.—The ticket office in the Wodgemere railroad station was broken into yesterday afternoon and $15 taken, a part of which was later recovered. About 4.30 the station agent, as is his custom, started down the railroad tracks to light a signal lamp. On his return a few minutes later he found the front window of the ticket office smashed and all the bills taken from the money drawer.

A small boy who had been hanging about the station for some time had disappeared. He was immediately suspected and his description was telephoned to Chief Melrose. The boy was found in Stoneham and the police recovered $11.50. He gave the name of Paul Boyce, 12 years old of Common street, Stoneham. He is a juvenile and will be summoned into the delinquents' court.

UNITED STATES MADE GREAT INCREASE IN TRADE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Trade of the United States with its noncontiguous territories aggregated 172 million dollars in the year just ended, against about $4 million a decade ago, in addition to the 172 million dollars worth of merchandise there was received from Alaska 13 million dollars worth of gold and domestic production.

Under the term, "noncontiguous territories," the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor includes Porto Rico, Alaska, the Hawaiian Islands, the Philippines, Guam, Midway and Tutuila, and with each of these the trade with the United States has increased rapidly in the last ten years.

In 1899 the trade returns of all this territory, except Alaska, were included with those of foreign countries. Since 1899 trade with Porto Rico has increased from 7 million to 32½ million dollars; with Hawaii, from 3½ to 61 million; with the Philippines, from 6½ to 27 million; and with Alaska, from an estimated total of 17½, to over 13 million dollars.

This growth in trade with the noncontiguous territories is almost evenly divided between inward and outward shipments, receipts from the territories showing a gain of 57 million, and shipments thereto a gain of 51 million dollars since 1899.

Shipments from Porto Rico to the United States in 1909 aggregated 27 million dollars, against ½ million in 1899, a gain of 23½ million dollars; from Hawaii, 41½ million, against 32 million in 1899, a gain of 9½ million dollars; from the Philippines, 13½ million, against 6 million in 1899, a gain of 7½ million; from Alaska, 13½ million dollars, against approximately 8 million in 1899, a gain of 5½ million during the decade.

Meantime outward shipments have increased: to Porto Rico, from 3 2-3 million in 1899 to 25 2-3 million in 1909, a gain of 22 million dollars; to Hawaii, from 11 million to 19 million, a gain of 8 million dollars; to the Philippines, from less than 2 million to practically 14 million, a gain of 12 million; and to Alaska, from about 9½ to 17½ million, a gain of 8 million dollars over those of 1899.

Of the 17½ million dollars worth of merchandise shipped to Alaska in 1909 iron and steel manufactures were valued at 3½ million dollars; meat and dairy products, 2 1-2 million; and wood manufactures, explosives, woolen goods, tobacco manufactures, mineral oil, breadstuffs and vegetables ranging respectively from one-half to nearly one million dollars.

Of the 13½ million dollars worth of merchandise received from Alaska last year, salmon alone amounted to nearly 10½ million; other fish, about 1 million; furs, one-half million; and copper ore, 206 thousand dollars.

Porto Rico's chief shipments to the United States are sugar, fruits and nuts, molasses, cigars and leaf tobacco. Sugar increased from 107 million pounds, valued at 21-2 million dollars in the fiscal year 1899 to 503 million pounds, valued at 18 million dollars in the calendar year 1909; molasses, from 325 thousand to 430 thousand dollars; fruits and nuts, from $798 to 1 1-4 million dollars; cigars, from $99 to 4½ million dollars; and leaf tobacco, from $18,522 to $1,818,667.

Meantime American shipments to Porto Rico have also shown remarkable gains: breadstuffs, from 187 thousand dollars in the fiscal year 1899 to over 2 million dollars in the calendar year 1909; meat and dairy products, from $59 thousand to 1 1-2 million dollars; cars and carriages, from $903 to 578 thousand; leather and leather goods, from 53 to 961 thousand; iron and steel manufactures, from 183 thousand to 1 1-4 million dollars; cotton manufactures, from 197 thousand to 3 2-3 million dollars; and rice, from $144 to nearly 4 million.

Hawaii shipped to the United States last year merchandise valued at 41 3-4 million dollars. Sugar, valued at 33 1-2 million dollars in 1909, has more than doubled since 1899 with its total of 17½ million. Fruits and nuts aggregated 1 2-3 million, against but 63 thousand dollars in 1899, while coffee and rice also show substantial gains. In shipments to Hawaii, valued at 19 million dollars last year, iron and steel manufactures show little change, 2-4 million dollars being the total for both 1899 and 1909; cotton manufactures increased from 1-2 to 1 3-4 million dollars; breadstuffs, from 1 million to 2 million dollars; mineral oils, from 161 thousand to 1 1-3 million dollars; cars and carriages, from 147 to 810 thousand; lumber, from less than 500 to 894 thousand dollars; and meat and dairy products, from 301 to 807 thousand dollars.

Philippine shipments to the United States, aggregating 13 1-2 million dollars in 1909, consisted chiefly of Manila hemp, 10 million, against 3 1-3 million a decade earlier; sugar, 2 1-3 million dollars, against less than 1 million in 1899; and cigars, 391 thousand dollars, against $199 in 1899, while receipts of

BALLINGER COMMITTEE IN SESSION-- MAN BEHIND ALASKA LOBBY CHARGE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—In the foreground of the accompanying picture of the Ballinger-Minchot investigating committee in session is Representative James M. Graham of Illinois, the democrat chosen by the house to fill the place left vacant by the action of Representative Lloyd of Missouri, who refused to serve. The other members of the committee shown in the picture, reading from left to right, are as follows: Representative Denby, Representative McCall, Representative Olinsaid, behind whose head Mr. McCall can just be seen; Representative Madison, Senator Nelson, chairman, in the background; Representative James, Senator Sutherland, Senator Root, Senator Fletcher and Senator Paynter. The man on the right is the clerk of the committee, James Wickham, who denied that he charged President Taft and former President Roosevelt with maintaining an Alaskan lobby in Washington. "I did repeat to a group of friends that I had been told by a prominent lobbyist that he represented certain interests before congress in which the president was interested. I said nothing to indicate that I believed our president or any other president had kept up a lobby system," said Mr. Wickham. The Ballinger-Minchot investigation is intimately concerned with the question of the legal disposition of Alaskan coal lands.

gave a solo and Mayor McLean responded briefly to the toast "City of Lowell." James O'Sullivan spoke on his visit to Scotland, Robert Muir and Miss Tall sang very acceptably, and James P. Ramsay made appropriate remarks to the occasion. John McLaren again favored the audience with another vocal selection, and the last speaker on the program was Lawrence Cunningham, who responded to the toast, "The Press."

Following the completion of this program, which lasted until nearly 11 o'clock, dancing was enjoyed, after a grand march led by Chief and Mrs. James McDowell. Miss Margaret Stevenson furnished music, at the piano, throughout the evening, and dancing. The affair lasted until nearly 1 o'clock, and was most enjoyable throughout.

Orrine Does Cure DRUNKENNESS

This is a positive fact known to tens of thousands of wives and mothers of this land. They know Orrine is a reliable remedy for the cure of drunkenness, because it has restored their loved ones to lives of sobriety and usefulness. Everyone of these women bought Orrine with full confidence that it would effect a cure or their money would be refunded to them if it failed. This guarantee is in each box. No other remedy for the cure of drunkenness is sold with this liberal guarantee, but Orrine has been so uniformly successful in now that they have full protection if it should fail in any instance. We never publish letters of patients, but recently this letter came to us from Dr. Noid, 8th and Race sts., Philadelphia, Pa. Read it and you will readily appreciate why Orrine is so well thought of.

"I have had a remarkable case of inebriety under my personal observation. The patient drank heavily for fifteen years and reached a deplorable condition, which caused the breaking up of his family and separation from his wife. Every hope was given up of ever saving the man from his strong desire for drink, and only a mother's interest finally persuaded him to voluntarily take treatment for his diseased condition. It was my pleasure to recommend Orrine, your inner habit cure, and the treatment was taken faithfully. This was two years ago and the patient is now in a healthy condition and still abstains from the use of stimulants. I have sold Orrine for a number of years and have always found it to be satisfactory. I believe you have an exceptionally good treatment for this disease."

Orrine is prepared in two forms. No. 1, a powder, absolutely tasteless and odorless, given in the form of capsules. Orrine No. 2, in pill form, is for those who wish to cure themselves. Orrine costs only $1 a box. The guarantee is in each box. Write for Free Orrine Booklet (mailed in plain sealed envelope) to Orrine Co., 661 Orrine Building, Washington, D. C., or to Dr. Noid, 8th and Race sts., Philadelphia, Pa. 121-123 Merrimack St.

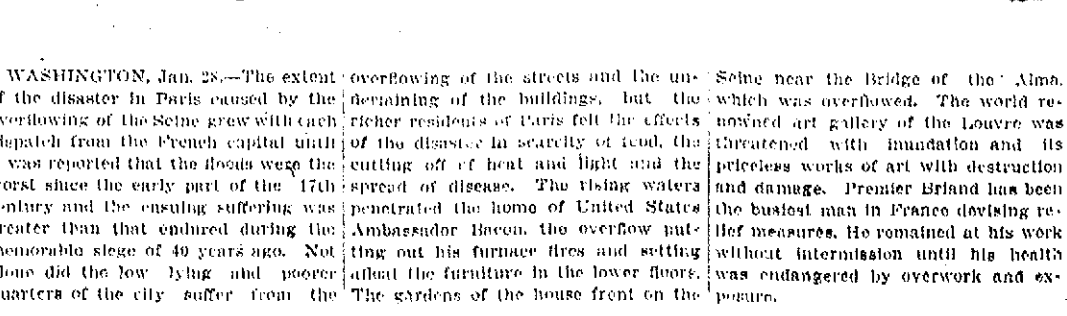

They know Orrine is a reliable and efficacious remedy for drunkenness and they will not offer you a substitute.

COURT OF THE LOUVRE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The extent of the disaster in Paris caused by the overflowing of the Seine grew with each dispatch from the French capital until it was reported that the floods were the worst since the early part of the 17th century and the ensuing suffering was greater than that endured during the memorable siege of 40 years ago. Not alone did the low lying and poorer quarters of the city suffer from the overflowing of the streets and the undenaturing of the buildings, but the richer residents of Paris felt the effects of the disaster in scarcity of food, the cutting off of heat and light and the spread of disease. The rising waters penetrated the home of United States Ambassador Bacon, the overflow putting out his furnace fires and setting about the furniture in the lower floors. # LOOK FOR THE COMET

Will be Visible for a Short Time Only

VIEW OF THE COMET AS SEEN LAST EVENING. THE STAR TO THE LEFT OF THE COMET IS VENUS.

Appears Shortly After Sunset in Western Sky Just Below the Evening Star

Have you seen the comet? If not, get out this evening and have a look, for it is growing fainter in the heavens every evening, and soon will disappear.

Look for the comet directly after sunset, for it does not remain long in view. You will find it above the western horizon under and to the west of Venus, the evening star.

The Sun today presents a remarkable photograph of the comet taken by Marion's studio from the roof of the Chaffinch building in Central street, showing the comet's head and tail. While the exposure was being made Venus moved in the firmament and the faithful camera caught her in the act, showing a short time.

Quite a number of members of the Knights of Columbus saw the comet from the K. of C. rooms on the top floor of the Associate building, Wednesday evening. From that point of view the comet appeared directly behind the spire of St. Patrick's church.

This is not the Halley comet, but a stranger to the astronomers and one that may never come this way again as its course appears to be nearly in a straight line.

MARSHAL HARRIS

To Stop Boxing in Salem

SALEM, Jan. 28.—The ban has been placed on boxing in Salem. City Marshal Harris has ruled that the meetings of the Apollo A. A. were in violation of the state laws.

To a newspaper representative yesterday afternoon City Marshal Harris said: "Yes, I have stopped the boxing at the Apollo club. There is really nothing to say in regard to it. Section 12 of chapter 207 of the revised laws of the state is quite plain and says that whoever takes part in or promotes a boxing or sparring exhibition is liable to arrest and a fine."

"As the Apollo club runs its meetings it was not public, technically speaking, but this is covered by another clause in the section which covers the point where a participant is paid or rewarded for his services. That the club infringed on this was clearly evident Wednesday evening, when one of the boxers refused to go on until the management agreed to live up to its agreement and pay the guarantee."

"What will your action, if any, be against the Young Men's A. A., which holds bouts Monday evenings?" the marshal was asked.

"The law covers all these cases. As for the Young Men's there is no doubt but that they come under the same head. We will attend to that part when the proper time comes."

No effort will be made to hold another meeting of the Apollo club. The Young Men's has secured a card for next Monday night, and there is some talk that they will hold their meeting, being protected, they say, by a state charter.

LANNAN'S MARKET

The public, particularly residents of the north end of the city, will be interested to learn that Mr. Joseph D. Lannan has opened a first class market at the corner of Salem and Decatur streets with a choice line of meats, provisions and vegetables. Mr. Lannan is an expert on meat, having been in the business many years and understanding thoroughly its different features such as the cutting and keeping of meat. He will handle only the best of food, and it may be obtained at reasonable prices. Telephone connection.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The fight against the rules of the house has been carried into the congressional campaign in a number of states and several representatives have found it necessary to issue addresses to the people "at home" to explain their attitude on the speaker's power and rules. Representative Stearnson and Davis, both of Minnesota and both insurgents, have issued statements. Both have been attacked in their home districts. Stearnson and Davis have indicated their wish to have their constituencies express themselves as to what lengths they should go in their opposition to Stearnson in his statement points out that while he has been an insurgent and has voted and worked for reform so as to reduce the speaker's power and had gone "to the very limit," he has refused to desert the party. He says he will support any republican for speaker if he is favorable to rules reform and with such reformed rules "even Mr. Cannon would eat out of the hand and be as tame as a dove."

A RUSH OF BARGAIN HUNTERS

It is no wonder that everyone is headed for this mecca of bargains. George Wood is slashing things right and left, so that you are sure to get a bargain in every article that you purchase. This is a genuine clearance sale in the full sense of the word. People that call and see the way that the goods are stacked look at each other and wonder whether Wood is going out of business. It looks like it to see the way that he has marked the goods. In many cases they are selling at less than they could be unpacked for. Just now Geo. H. is interested in furniture and in a number of instances he has exchanged his jewelry stock for farm stock without any money consideration. It really seems as if you can do business with or without money if you have anything that will fit on a farm.

BIG DECLINE

IN THE PRICE OF BEEF IS NOTED

BOSTON, Jan. 28.—The agitation against the high prices of food has begun to take effect in Boston, a general decline in the price of meat being shown in the markets here yesterday. Retail prices fell from 2 to 4 points a pound on the higher grades of meat. More beef is being shipped to Europe on account of the decreased use of meat in this country. Two cattle boats which sailed for England yesterday each had steers aboard in excess of the number originally booked. A steamer sailing today also has a great herd under the decks. A no-meat club will hold its second, mass meeting tomorrow the purpose of discussing the situation.

Some of the most fascinating model dresses of these ginghams are being shown in one of our Merrimack street windows, with parasols to match. ## JUDGE HADLEY

Received Two Letters From an Unruly Boy

Judge Samuel P. Hadley, of the local police court, has had to deal with many unruly and troublesome boys during his years on the police court bench, but his Honor ran up against a "fiarlar" this morning in the person of a ten-year-old boy who appeared before him at the juvenile session of the court. The lad in question appeared before the court about a year ago and it was thought that the lecturing he received at that time would start him on the right path, but he went from bad to worse; and during the past year has been doing all kinds of stunts much to the annoyance of his parents.

The climax was capped recently, however, when the youngster, during the absence of his mother, sold practically all of the household effects that were movable, to a couple of junk men. The mother, having occasion to do some shopping left the boy in the house and her parting words were: "Be sure and be a good boy." She had left the house but a short time when the boy, hearing the well known cry of "R-a-g-s, hot-t-l-e-s," raised the window and called the ragman in. The boy told the ragman that he had a number of articles which he wanted to sell and then started to point out the articles, which included a gas stove, a small coal stove, three suits of clothes, rugs, carpets, tin and copper boilers, rags and countless other things. The ragman, knowing that he had an easy thing in the boy gave him a quarter for the whole "shooting match."

A little later another ragman came along and the generous boy called the second man in and sold him various other articles, for which he received twelve cents.

When the mother came home she was astonished to see that a good portion of the household effects had been removed. Persistent inquiry on her part led to the boy confessing what he had done.

When the boy's father came home he was told what the son had done, and the father, immediately started on the trail of the ragmen and succeeded in getting back the greater part of the goods.

What to do with the boy is a question which has been bothering the parents for a year or more. When he was but nine years of age, it is said, he stole a horse and drove it away, but he was captured and the horse returned to the owner.

The parents finally decided to bring the attention of the court to the boy and accordingly he was arraigned before Judge Hadley this morning in the juvenile session.

When the little fellow entered the court room he was neatly attired and strutted into the room with the air of a man of considerable importance. When his case was called he jumped out of his seat and walking up to the judge handed the latter two envelopes, the contents of which were as follows:

Jan. 27, 1910, Lowell, Mass., City.

Dear Sir: Your honor, Mr. Judge Hadley. This is what I gave the first ragman his number is 41. I gave him a bag of rags three coats, a hat, a pair of the coats a gray jacket, a black one and a light coat and a stove and a gas stove and a carpet and a rug and a gas stove and the little green bag of rags, she (his mother) took fifty cents of him and he brought it back.

I am sorry I disobeyed your honor, sir for I am sure my mother will be lonely for her rag garden. I declare sir I never took a thing from any one else but my mother and I am sorry for it.

Yours truly,

Please your honor, sir Mr. Judge Hadley excuse me for my writing sir for I'm not a big boy yet.

Dear Sir, Your Honor Mr. Judge Hadley. The second rag man which I do not know his name or number, but I do not where he keeps, he keeps on Fletcher street beyond the Salvation army, he took an iron pot, a flat iron and a bag of coats and carpets and he gave me twelve cents but he did not return none of them. Please your honor, sir Mr. Judge Hadley excuse my writing sir for I'm not a big boy yet.

Despite the fact that the boy said he was sorry for what he had done and promised to be better in the future, his parents said that they thought he was incorrigible, and felt that if he was placed under restraint for a short time he might improve. Inasmuch as the boy did not attend school regularly he was sent to the Middlesex County Truancy school at North Chelmsford.

Threatens to Destroy Famous Structures

PARIS, Jan. 28.—When the day broke over Paris and the submerged provinces surrounding the prospect was a cheerless one. A heavy rain had set in and a brisk breeze out of the north served to drive the flood to points which had heretofore escaped its invasion. It was feared this morning that it might soon be impossible to transmit any great amount of the press matter with which the offices of the telegraph and cable companies were heavily burdened. Early today the French Cable Co. announced that communications between this city and the provinces was difficult and at times interrupted.

The morning found a great force of men still at work in the erection of a wall which it was hoped would divert the flood from the historic Hotel Lambert and the famous Hotel Lauzun adjoining. Both of these houses were built in the seventeenth century, the Hotel Lauzun having been purchased by the city ten years ago and made over as a museum of art.

The Rue St. Lazare was inundated throughout its extent by water which had found its way up through the subway on a roof of the subway under the Palais d'Opera fell in during the night.

The Castle St. Louis is fast disappearing under the waters and unless conditions change soon will be submerged. The river Seine continued to rise this morning and lacked only a few inches of attaining the greatest flood on record. This was in 1875 when the country was without the modern barriers which are designed to protect Paris and nearby points in such emergencies.

An unfortunate shift of the wind from north to southwest, accompanied by a falling barometer and heavy rain added to the distress of the stricken city this forenoon. Through the night the conditions in this city and nearby towns grew more serious. The devastation has now penetrated the very heart of Paris, the gorging rivers and sewers underneath literally blowing up the streets, while the area of the surface overflowed by the waters of the Seine had been doubled today. Twelve of the 25 bridges over the river have been closed and the subway on roof of the subway under the city to the other either are inundated or have been roped off as unsafe.

The Palais De Glais and other pleasure resorts and restaurants are surrounded, even the Palais d'Opera at the core of the city threatening to sink to the subway beneath. Galleries throughout the district from that point to the St. Lazare station comprising the Faubourg Montmartre and the Rue Berger and the richer sections in the Rue de Provence, the Rue Drouot and the Rue Chateaudun are filled to the street level with water from the overflowing subterranean river.

The Palais de Legion d'Honneur has been evacuated. The situation in the neighborhood of the French Institute has become desperate.

War would hardly have played such havoc. The City of Lights has become a city of slime. Business is almost at a standstill and the hotels are crowded with persons who have fled from inundated homes. The prices of necessities are advancing by leaps and bounds as the paralysis of transportation facilities extends. The Northern railroad alone of the vast network of railways still operates directly into the city and the operation of this line is threatened by the deplorable situation at the St. Lazare station where the tracks are submerged and the immense building is in danger of falling as a result of broken water main beneath its foundations. This last means of insuring suburban traffic was interrupted for a time today when the tracks of the belt line were engulfed at the Rue De Courcelles. The roads leading to the city were filled this morning with pedestrians coming to their work, and long processions of refugees bent beneath the weight of sacks containing milk.

The few of their belongings that they had been able to save. Practically all of them are without funds.

Disaster followed disaster during the day. A gaping chasm opened in the lower Champs Elysee engulfing a cart and two men. One of the men was rescued but the other with the horse was swept away to his death. Toward noon the water gushed out of the Tuilleries entrance of the Metropolitan subway flooding the square in front of the Comedie Francaise. An attempt to keep the water down in the section of the subway at this place was made by using pumps through holes bored at distant points but with little success.

Within the city there is practically no means of transportation except by cabs and taxi-cabs, the owners of which charge fabulous prices. The steam tramways which were the only surface lines remaining after the electric cars failed were unable to move today as the water had entered the engine boxes.

The authorities continue to battle bravely with the situation but their resources are becoming exhausted. The police, firemen and soldiers who have been on duty night and day since Monday are worn out and volunteers to aid in the work of rescue and relief were called for today.

The improvised dikes along the quays have broken and the chief efforts are now directed to keeping the bridges free of an accumulation of driftwood, alien with ropes fastened about them are lowered over the sides of the bridges into the freezing water to further this work. Red Cross ambulances go clanging through the streets. The soldiers are replacing the police for sentinel duty, giving the city the appearance of being in a state of siege. Offers of aid are pouring in from outside but as yet the government has not made any official announcement as to whether such gifts will be acceptable.

The Palais du Palais de Bourbon where the deputies are now sitting is nearly isolated. While a corporal and two soldiers in a rowboat were trying to deliver the orders of their commander the boat was swept into the Seine and the corporal fell overboard. The two soldiers sprang into the seething water to save their comrade and after an exciting effort the corporal and one soldier were rescued with ropes thrown by sailors on shore. The other soldier was drowned.

SAVING A SUICIDE

Is Not a Crime Says, Counsel For Sisters

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Contending that aiding and abetting a suicide is not a crime in the state of New Jersey, counsel for the three Wardlaw sisters, now in jail awaiting trial for causing the death of Percy Sneed, the East Orange bathtub victim, are taking steps to free the elderly prisoners. Today the New Jersey prosecuting authorities found on file a demurrer to the indictment against the women and prepared to combat it when it moved as anticipated for early argument before the supreme court. Attorneys for Mrs. Caroline E. Martin, mother of the victim, and Mrs. Mary Sneed and Miss Virginia Wardlaw, the dead girl's aunts, the three prisoners under indictment declare that the recent finding by a chemist, that the dead woman's body contained morphine, disproved the theory that she was murdered by drowning in a bathtub.

The attorneys declare that if former decisions are upheld the prosecutor will either have to bring a direct charge of murder or free the three women.

in his opinion such exercise would be injurious to the pupil's health.

Section 2.—This act shall take effect upon its passage.

HEARING VOTED

On Dr. Lamoureux's Bill on Military Drill

The committee on education of the legislature will give a hearing on the bill introduced by Dr. J. E. Lamoureux of this city, chairman of the school board relative to military drill, at the state house, room 441, next Tuesday at 10.30 o'clock.

Dr. Lamoureux's bill reads as follows:

Section 1.—Section 34 of Chapter 42 of the revised laws is hereby amended by striking out the last sentence and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "No pupil shall be required to take part in any military exercise if his parent or guardian is of the religious denominations of Quakers or Shakers or any other religious denomination conscientiously opposed to bearing arms, and said parent or guardian is himself conscientiously scrupulous of bearing arms, and so notifies the school committee in writing; or if a physician of good standing shall certify in writing that in his opinion such exercise would be injurious to the pupil's health, so as to read as follows: Section 34.—The school committee shall direct what books shall be used in the public schools, and shall prescribe, as far as is practicable a course of studies and exercises to be pursued therein. Such exercises may, at the discretion of the committee, include calisthenics, gymnastics and military drill; but no special instructors shall be employed therefore, except by a two-thirds vote of the committee. No pupil shall be required to take part in any military exercise if his parent or guardian is of the religious denominations of Quakers or Shakers, or any other religious denomination conscientiously opposed to bearing arms, and said parent or guardian is himself conscientiously scrupulous of bearing arms, and so notifies the school committee in writing; or if a physician of good standing shall certify in writing that

The victim was a Mrs. O'Neil, aged 90 years, who was overcome by smoke and died before assistance could reach her. The burned building was insured for $20,000.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Despatches to R. G. Dun & Co. indicate some investigation in a few lines of trade but the industrial situation reflects steady progress. Improved conditions are apparent in Boston but as a rule a more conservative feeling exists, traders showing more caution in placing new contracts. Jobbing trade in dry goods is quiet while retailers show more interest in reducing winter stocks goods. Uncertainty us to new cotton still checks business in finished materials buyers generally asking lower prices.

BOARD OF HEALTH

Held Sort of Indignation Meeting This Forenoon

Board Criticizes Action of Appropriations Committee — Work Outlined by the Board Will be Done Regardless of the Committee's Action—Board is Determined to Wage War Against White Plague and to Put City in Sanitary Condition

The board of health held a special meeting this forenoon. It was a sort of indignation meeting and it was called to consider what the board calls "the absurd action of the committee on appropriations."

This committee held its first meeting last Wednesday night and refused to approve of the board of health's estimate for the care of contagious diseases. The weight of this estimate was based upon bills from other places where Lowell's patients have been or are being cared for, Reading or Rutland, for instance.

The board today voted unanimously to do all work that has been laid out and that has to do with contagious diseases, the care of the milk supply and the proper sanitary conditions of the city. The board will do this, regardless of any action of the committee on appropriations.

The public can take its choice," said Dr. Martin, "between our action and that of the committee on appropriations. If there is anything more important than the health of the city I would like to know what it is. In a letter accompanying our estimates for the year the following, which we consider to be vastly important, was included:

"We desire especially, to broaden our efforts, the coming year, in two departments—the improvement of our milk supply, which has an estimated bearing upon infant mortality, and more effective work against tuberculosis, including tenement house inspection, fumigation, etc. To this end we have decided to ask for $5000 for contagious diseases, this sum to include the considerable amounts which we are annually obliged to pay to other cities and to various hospitals for the care of our citizens who are sick with any contagious disease which will away from home."

The milk inspector's department, now under the board of health, asks for the same appropriation as last year plus the amount required for some necessary apparatus to carry on the milk examination."

The board allowed that the committee on appropriations should have turned down its request for $5000 for contagious diseases. The amount expended last year was $2413 and the work has been growing and will continue to grow. The committee also clipped the board on its estimate for salaries. The board asked for an increase of about $2500 for contagious diseases, or a total of $5000. The committee on appropriations recommended the sum of $3000 for contagious diseases and office sundries. For office sundries, which include advertising, bacteriological department, culture taking, express, medical services, printed supplies, telephone, vaccine, etc., the board asked $1693. Under this head $1406.95 was spent last year and extra supplies including new apparatus for the department of milk inspector are needed this year. The apparatus asked for is said to be absolutely necessary for the examination of milk and the board intends to provide it, come what may.

The board at its meeting today voted not to appear before the committee. It was the sense of the board that its recommendations had been plainly outlined and explained in the letter accompanying its estimates and that it would be fruitless for the board to go before the committee.

On motion of Dr. Huntress it was voted that one of five or six tenements in a block in Oak avenue be vacated within 48 hours and to insist that the whole block be put in sanitary condition within 30 days.

It was voted to notify the owner of premises at 439 Market street that a bakery located there be put in proper condition, satisfactory to the board within three days and that the whole building be in such sanitary condition as to meet the approval of the board or its inspectors.

The board will issue its annual report in a few days and the reporter for The Sun came in contact with a few advanced sheets of the report. The sheets seen by the reporter were devoted to statistics and one had to do with cholera infantum cases. After looking the sheet over and speaking with the board members the reporter learned that they "felt" considerably comforted because of the fact that the number of cases in 1909 was 64 as compared with 53 for 1908, 33 for 1907, and 110 for 1906. The board allows it is fair to assume that its watchfulness of the milk supply, cleanliness, etc., had a deal to do with the falling off of the number of deaths from cholera infantum.

SANCTUARY CHOIR

Of St. Patrick's Enjoyed a Banquet

The members of St. Patrick's Sanctuary choir enjoyed themselves to their hearts' content last evening, the occasion being their annual banquet which was provided for them by their pastor, Rev. William O'Brien, and the Xavier Brothers.

The boys assembled in the school hall where the banquet was served. There were about eighty boys present. Mr. Johnson, the organist of the church, was a guest of the evening.

The boys brought their appetites well sharpened for the affair, and once seated at the table did full justice to the menu which consisted of the following:

Hot Chicken Pie
Celery
Cold Ham
Cranberry Sauce
Hot Mashed Potatoes
Rolls and Butter
Custard Sauce
Blancquain Ice Cream
Coffee
Assorted Cakes and Crackers

After the banquet the members gave the following very pleasing program:

NATICK POLICE A. O. H. BUILDING

Investigating Alleged Soliciting Committee White Slave Case Ready to Start Work

BOSTON, Jan. 28.—The Natick police are investigating what they regard as a "white slave" case. In the Natick court today Louis Russell, aged 27, Mayfield Dods, aged 25, and Helen Patten, aged 17, all of Boston, were held for a further hearing on charges of conducting themselves improperly.

The police claim that the Patten girl was taken to Natick for the purpose of making the acquaintance of male residents of the Albanian colony for financial gain. An investigation is in progress in this city and Natick to determine the extent of the illegal traffic.

A largely attended meeting of the soliciting committee for the A. O. H. building fund was held Wednesday evening and after discussing various plans it was decided to adjourn to Sunday at 2.30 p. m., at which time it is hoped to start the various teams out. A full attendance of the committee is requested. The committee consists of James O'Sullivan, chairman, H. McQuade, secretary, and 10 members from each of the divisions.

MILK

14% CHEAPER

The butter fat and solids contained in milk give it its value, and their percentage in Hood Farm Milk is so large that this milk is considerably cheaper at 10c a quart than ordinary milk at 14c.

If any housekeeper thinks she cannot afford to pay 14c a quart for Hood Farm Milk she should be told that according to a recent test, she could add a quart of water to every quart of this milk and then have a milk that would be up to the Massachusetts standard—that is, as good as ordinary milk.

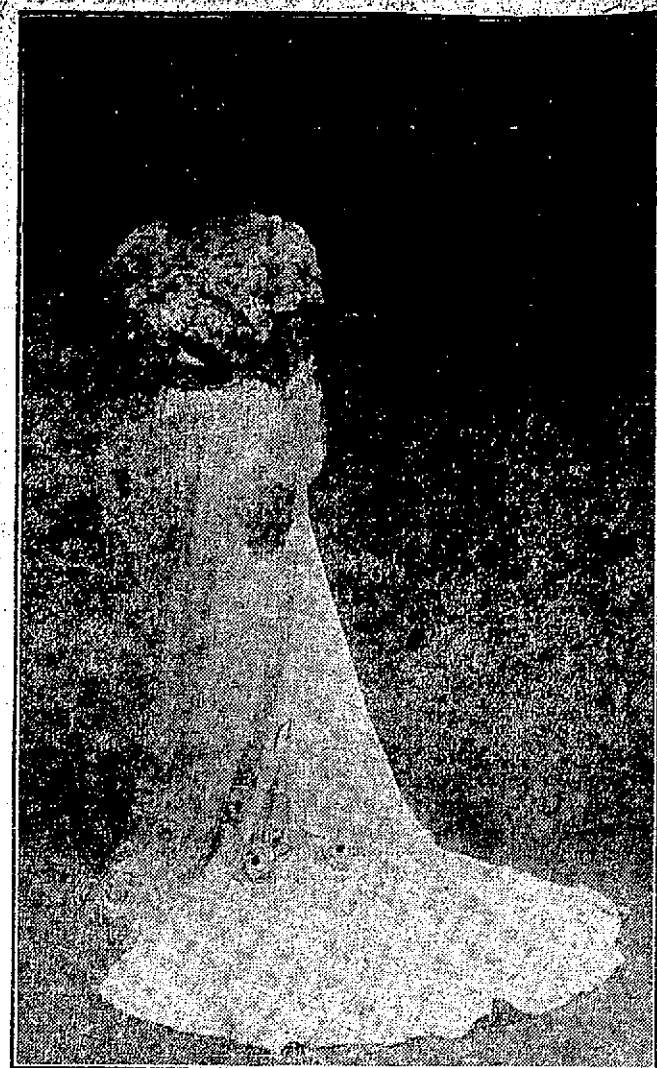

Hood Farm Milk besides being cheaper than ordinary milk, on account of its larger content of nutriment, is also pure milk, and is more desirable than any other milk.

Take it. Delivered at 10c a quart in most parts of the city. Telephone 516-4 or send postal to Hood Farm, Lowell, Mass.

CONSTANCE COLLIER IN "ISRAEL"

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

The performance of "Esther" at the Opera House next Sunday night, under the auspices of the young women of the Sacred Heart parish, should draw forth a very large attendance. This work has long been known as one of the best of the sacred cantatas, and the treatment of the beautiful theme has long been greatly admired. This same corps of singers gave two performances of the work at Hathaway's theatre last spring. Although they were eminently successful, much hard work has been put into the production since that time, under the direction of Mrs. Adelaide A. Muldoon. The singers all have fresh, sweet voices, and Mrs. James Bales in the title role should prove wonderfully attractive.

"ISRAEL"

The big dramatic sensation of the year appears to be Henry Bernstein's latest dramatic play, "Israel," which most dramatic writers refer to as his masterpiece. Mr. Bernstein has taken for the theme of this play the anti-semitic feeling so common in France and as in his two other plays with which American theatregoers are familiar, "The Thief" and "Samson," he has treated his theme with boldness and audacity. The second act of the play is said to be one of the most powerful the stage has ever seen and it invariably arouses and sustains the intense interest of an audience, while the fall of the curtain on the great climax of the act is a signal for numerous curtain calls. "Israel" is said to be splendidly acted, especially in its three principal roles, for which Charles Frohman has provided such players as Constance Collier, Edwin Arden and Graham Brown. In fact the entire company is identical with the original New York cast and the production is also the same. Charles Frohman will present "Israel" at the Opera House Tuesday, Feb. 1.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

Eight sprightly dancers, known as the Palace Girls, and direct from success in England, are headlined at Hathaway's theatre, this week. The octet can surely grind out many steps and kicks and there seems no end to their powers of endurance. They dress the act in a manner calling for emphatic approval. James Clemons, a grotesque dancer of downright merit, also appears in the act. He is one of the great big hits of the program. Emerin Campbell and Aubrey Yates in "200 Miles from Broadway," have an offering which is filled with comedy moments. It was written by Edmund Day, and is most satisfying. Mr. Yates plays the role of a bookmaker, driven from New York, and Miss Campbell that of a soubrette who is on her "uppers." Other acts on the bill are: Three Dolce Sisters, excellent singers; Mailla & Burt, in an acrobatic sketch; James O. Wise, chalk artist; Ileana & Rutter, dancers; Ida Donnette and her trick dog. The Hathascope holds new films.

Performances will be given every afternoon and evening during the remainder of the week, with special seats at the matinees for women.

STAR THEATRE

Two new vaudeville acts were featured Thursday's program at the Star theatre. A new program of motion pictures was given this afternoon. Large audiences, composed in no small measure of women and children, witnessed both performances this afternoon. It is "the biggest and best show in Lowell," and the admission of five cents includes a seat.

I., Jan. 28.—Four hundred employees of the Titton Mill Co., which manufactures fine ginghams, were thrown out of work yesterday by the strike of 100 Poles employed as weavers, who struck because of the discharge of three of their number for inefficiency. ## TREAS. HALL'S SHORTAGE

BOSTON, Jan. 28.—In the course of legal proceedings in the supreme court today over the Southbridge savings bank attorney General Malone stated that he feared the shortage in the accounts of Treasurer Hall would prove very large and that a receiver might be necessary to settle the affairs of the institution.

A decree was issued by agreement of the attorney general and counsel for the bank, continuing the temporary injunction and permitting the bank committee to bring suits, collect accounts, convert funds and foreclose mortgages.

When the temporary injunction was issued ten days ago following the granting of a warrant for the arrest of Treasurer Hall it was intimated that the shortage would not be over fifty or seventy-five thousand dollars. Since then it has been stated that the sum would be considerably less but within a day or two these rumors have taken an opposite turn and today the deficit is said to reach several hundred thousand dollars. The bank examiners, however, are still at work on the books.

Lost His Bout With Kid Shea

LAWRENCE, Jan. 28.—Harry Scroggs of Baltimore was defeated last night in the 11th round of a scheduled 12-round bout with Kid Shea of Lowell, Me. Referee Burke awarding the decision to Shea on a foul. Shea had protested several times on account of Scroggs' low hitting, and several times the spectators thought that Shea's protest was justified.

The bout, at that, was considerably in favor of Shea. He carried the boxing to Scroggs, and when the foul blow was delivered Scroggs was leg-weary. Scroggs took a good beating and when the decision was awarded against him, he firmly argued that he did not intend to commit any infraction of the rules. The foul was too palpable to disregard, and the decision was given to Shea.

There were three preliminaries, in the first of which Kid Freeman of this city defeated Young Kelley of Lowell; Young Mack of Lawrence defeated Young Fitzgerald in five and Eddie Conley of Everett was put away in three rounds by Kid Wright of this city.

FAST BOUT AT LEWISTON
LEWISTON, Jan. 28.—Mike Cunningham of Lewiston and Kid Pantz of Augusta boxed six fast and exciting rounds before the Armory A. C. here last night. The go was very even, both boys working hard throughout.

In the third round Pantz did excellent work, but was unable to obtain much advantage. In the fifth and sixth Cunningham was the aggressor and forced Pantz hard, Pantz doing much clinching to protect himself.

The semifinal between Young Nadeau of Lewiston and Herbert Porter of Auburn was exciting, but was all Porter's, who went at Nadeau in whirlwind fashion and put him to the mat twice in the fifth round, the going being from a knockout. In the sixth Nadeau managed to stay the limit, but took severe punishment.

In the preliminaries, Young Gagne and "Shadow" McCormick, both of Lewiston, went six lively rounds, and Tommy Breen of Lewiston knocked out Young Fisher of Auburn in the third.

A GLASSY BOUT
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 28.—In one of the classic bouts ever witnessed at the Broadway A. C. last night Tommy O'Keefe, better known as "The Kid," gained the verdict by being the aggressor in the first two rounds, in which he landed some telling blows to the Frenchman's jaw and body. The latter improved as the fight went on and held his own in the latter rounds.

Excellent showing and proved to be a greatly improved boxer from his first appearance in this city.

Both boys finished strong and neither bore a mark from their setto.

Did they expect us to advertise for two years before having a two day sale at give-away prices? Others kept the telephone busy asking us to hold certain goods, complaining of the rainy weather, but in fairness to those who shopped early, rain or shine, how could we do that? Now we want to make everybody happy, consequently we have decided to run another Two Days' Sale, half price off our same regular low prices SATURDAY and MONDAY. BUT—we must exclude Diamonds and Watches as we really cannot afford to give one-half off these again, although we will allow a very liberal discount which will make it worth your while. Watch Saturday papers.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1909, was

16,828

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

The committee on appropriations must lay the foundation for a year of economy.

Everybody should see the double tailed comet. This may be the only chance in a life-time.

We are all agreed upon the necessity of a public hall. The next thing is to select a site. That should be done as soon as possible.

THE MEAT BOYCOTT.

The Boston consumers are to begin a period of two weeks' abstention from the use of meat as a protest against the high prices. That may help bring the beef trust to a realization of the popular feeling towards its extortions.

WHITE PLAQUE POSTERS.

At the last national convention of bill posters it was voted to contribute a million dollars worth of large posters to the campaign against tuberculosis. Hon. Joseph J. Flynn of Lawrence, who owns the billboards in this section, was the leader in the movement, and as a result of his efforts the sum of $672 will be expended for educational work against tuberculosis in this city. The bills will soon be posted through the city and will doubtless attract attention.

OWNED THE TOWN OF LOWELL.

That letter of Mrs. Mary Brooks Reynolds of New Jersey, inquiring of the town clerk of Lowell, just how she can clear up the title of her ancestors to the land on which this city is built, is amusing in its simplicity. Evidently the good lady is not aware as to how her ancestors disposed of the title to the town of Lowell if they ever possessed it. We do not imagine, however, that there is much danger of quo warranto proceedings to cause every property owner in Lowell to show the validity of the title to his estate.

We have heard of other people who thought they or their forbears owned this city, but somehow none of them have been able to prove their title clear. These traditional claims of colonial days have seldom been found recorded.

TO PROTECT TOWNS.

The town treasurer of Framingham has made the town responsible for $1,186,000 of forged notes of which $320,000 are still outstanding. Some of the bogus notes were paid off while temporary loans were left outstanding for years. The legislature should lose no time in enacting a law that will make such transactions impossible. Governor Draper suggested that a law requiring the registry and certification of every note and loan order for a town would prevent the treasurer from perpetrating such outrageous frauds. That arrangement would serve, but some law of the kind should be passed promptly so that no dishonest official can hereafter rob a town as did Treasurer Lombard of Framingham.

TO PROMOTE INDUSTRIAL PEACE.

An important bill now before the legislature aims at preventing hasty strikes and lock-outs. It provides that if an employer declares a lock-out before having the dispute investigated by the state board he shall be fined not more than $10 a day for each employee locked out and not less than $100 for each day of the lock-out. On the other hand the employee who goes on strike without calling in the state board of arbitration is liable to a fine of $50 for every day he remains out.

While this would not be compulsory arbitration it would go far to prevent hasty action on either side, and in that light would do a vast amount of good. It is certainly as fair for one side as for the other, and if such a law would be constitutional, no harm could come from trying its effect for the promotion of industrial peace.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS VINDICATED.

The decision of Judge Hough in the U. S. district court of New York, quashing the indictment brought by the federal government against the New York World, is probably the last that will be heard of a case that was instigated through personal spleen, temporarily sustained by a strained construction of an old statute and practically unprecedented in history.

Similar proceedings based on the publication of the same article against the publishers of the Indianapolis News were thrown out of court, so that the legal machinery of the federal government has thus failed to establish its case for criminal libel against the defendants, the parties alleged to have been libelled being Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Taft, brother of the president, William P. Cromwell and others in reference to their connection with Panama canal purchase.

The fact that the government case has fallen through vindicates the privilege of the press to criticize public officials and even to condemn their actions most severely when such criticism is honestly made in the interests of the public good, public justice and official honesty.

Had this suit been sustained the freedom of the press would have received a severe blow and the power that has been forcing reforms in municipal government and exposing rottenness and corruption throughout the land would have been seriously affected. Let us be thankful that in spite of occasional miscarriages of justice against the press and in spite of the unscrupulous journals that abuse their privileges, the power and the freedom of the press are still unimpaired and still guaranteed by constitutional rights against all unwarranted attacks.

PEOPLE OF NOTE.

Both the paying and the receiving teller in the Malden State savings bank of New York are young women. In a circular recently issued the officials of the bank commended these two women for their efficiency, accuracy and the general excellence of their work. Since they have been in office no shortage of cash has been found and they readily detect discrepancies in signatures and are unvaryingly punctual and courteous to patrons of the bank.

Prof. Willard C. Fisher of the department of economics, Wesleyan university, is mayor of Middletown, Conn., elected at the head of the democratic ticket. Professor Fisher was mayor in 1900 and 1907, and after two years' absence from office was returned with a majority of both aldermen and councilmen in sympathy with his policy.

Prof. John M. Tyler of Amherst will soon leave on an extended tour of Europe. He will return in September.

The clay model of the portrait statue of the late Thomas B. Read, for Portland, Me., has been completed by the sculptor, Burr C. Miller, in his Paris studio, and those who have seen it, speak in the highest terms of praise of the work. The figure is of heroic size, and, with the pedestal, the monument will have a height of eighty feet. The statue is now being cast in bronze, and will probably be first shown in the coming season. It will then be shipped to Portland. The pedestal will be of Maine granite. It is hoped to have the monument ready for dedication some time next August. Samuel W. McCall of Massachusetts will be the orator of the day. The occasion will bring to Portland many distinguished men from all parts of the country.

The former empress of France, Eugenie, has once more given a categorical denial to the statement that she has written her memoirs. About six months ago her secretary printed a denial in the Paris Figaro and now he sends a letter to the Times declaring that "she has not written and is not writing any memoirs, and that any publication of that kind would be an apology." This letter bears the date January 9, 1910, which is the anniversary of the death of her husband, Napoleon III, in 1873. The denial was doubtless elicited by a statement made by Jules Claretie that a work has already been printed in several languages entitled "Memoirs of the Empress Eugenie" and that the authors of this work are only waiting for the death of the empress to issue it.

Rev. James A. Solandt, pastor of the Congregational church at Rutland for the past five years, has resigned to accept a call from the Belleville Avenue Congregational church in New York city, having a membership of over 300. Mr. Solandt is a graduate of Oberlin college. He also studied at Hartford seminary and Yale Divinity school. He has had wide experience as a pastor.

Major Dreyfus has made a successful appearance as a public lecturer in Paris, at the Bibliotheque. Popular where he was invited to speak. The subject chosen had not the slightest reference to anything with which his name has hitherto been connected. It was the "History of Trade Union Syndicates in France," with which he showed that he was very familiar, though he was never in any way mixed up with it. As to his own personal views, he was rather sparing in expressing them. But he approved of the change in the recent laws which gave recognition to such syndicates and said that it would have been dangerous to withhold it much longer. On the other hand, he believed that there should be more counterpoises to the unions, and that it would help to check the revolutionary tendency of the labor associations.

Notice of the gift of $50,000, which a philanthropist purposes to bestow on the American university, the educational seat of the Methodist Episcopal church of the United States in Washington has come from the central west. The name of the benefactor has been withheld for the present, but the university authorities in announcing the intended endowment promise a statement of its purpose later.

Mrs. Josephine Dackam Bacon is reported as saying that she could earn $10,000 a year by her pen if she could give four hours a day to writing, but that she could not do that without neglecting her husband and family; and she thinks she could not be a woman suffragist for the same reason.

POLICE METHODS

Outlined by Members of the State Police

Arthur F. Roach, of the inspection department of the Massachusetts district police, and formerly connected with the police department of Worcester, spoke before the Men's league of the Worthen Street Baptist church, last night.

He spoke of the methods employed in the finer phases of police work and explained the Bertillon system of measurement, which he said he believed superior to the finger print system. Both of these systems are in use right here in Lowell.

Mr. Roach explained how easy it is for a man defiled on police work to make a mistake. He referred to the mistakes made in measuring arrested men.

The Bertillon system is very rarely used in Worcester, only on men charged with felonies.

The measurements never disclose any two persons alike. But the work must be done with the utmost caution. It is not the case, then, that very serious complications may follow. It is easy enough to arrest the wrong man, but rather harder to get the right individual, said Mr. Roach.

Slight variations in measurements are allowed, one millimeter in the measuring of a man's head lengthwise and in the measurement of a man's foot, three millimeters are allowed.

He described the method of measuring. The cross, as the upright, is called, is used to measure the stretch of arms, while a stool is backed against the upright, upon which the prisoner sits while his trunk is measured. Calipers are used for the measurement of the head and of the ear, a calliper square is used for the foot and hand, and a small rule for scars, birthmarks, etc.

The first measurement taken is that of the length of the head, from the bridge of the nose to the extreme part of the poll of the head. The second measurement is of the width of the head, from its widest points. Next the cheek width is taken and after that the length of the right ear and the width of it. The perpendicular height is next taken and after that the height of the trunk. The outstretch arms are measured from the tip of each hand and then measurements are taken of the left little finger, left middle finger, left forearm and left foot.

Referring to the photographing of a prisoner after his arrest, Mr. Roach said that sometimes considerable trouble is experienced. As a matter of record, however, he said that the photographs were not as important as the measurements.

Referring again to the measurements, he said that the perpendicular height of the prisoner is only taken in English inches. Of course, the system of measurement is also used here. It is a peculiar fact, he stated, that the width of a man's outstretched arms is usually about four inches more than his perpendicular height. This is not a measurement of criminals especially. One who has been captured in Worcester had an outstretch of arms seven inches more than his perpendicular height. This was, of course, abnormal.

The description on the card, furnished for that purpose, of a criminal's eyes, is of the utmost importance. Prof. Bertillon states that there are 160 different shades of eyes. There is occasionally a difference in the color of the right and left eyes. The forehead is also described as to whether it is receding, overhanging, low, high, etc. The nose as a feature of identification is next in importance to the eyes. The ridge in the bridge of the nose is concave, convex, sinuous, etc. The lobes and rim of the ear are also included in the description. Teeth play little part in identification, because of the changes in them occasioned by modern dentistry.

Inspector Roach spoke of the finger print system of identification and read from Francis Galton's book on it. He said that former superintendent of police, William Moffatt, was one of the most enthusiastic believers in the system he had ever seen. He admitted that the system has some strong points, but that it was much more complex than that of Prof. Bertillon. Coupled with the latter system, it made identification complete.

AFTER 4 YEARS OF MISERY

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Baltimore, Md.—"For four years my life was a misery to me. I suffered from irregularities, terrible dragging sensations, extreme nervousness, and that all gone feeling in my stomach. I had given up hope of ever being well when I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Then I felt as though new life had been given me, and I am recommending it to all my friends."—Mrs. W. S. Fonn, 2207 W. Franklin St., Baltimore, Md.

The most successful remedy in this country for the cure of all forms of female complaints is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has stood the test of years and today is more widely and successfully used than any other female remedy. It has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means had failed.

If you are suffering from any of these ailments, don't give up hope until you have given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

TREASURER HALL

Will Aid in Examining Bank's Books

SOUTHBRIDGE, Jan. 28.—From the seclusion of his home, where he had immured himself following his voluntary surrender and release in $50,000 bonds, John A. Hall, the former bank treasurer whom his fellow officials of the Southbridge Savings Bank accuse of large defalcations, last night made it plain that he intended to aid the bank's officers in the expert examination now being made of the books in an attempt to determine the exact amount believed to be missing. Mr. Hall let it be known that he would go over the bank's books with the examiners as soon as possible, probably on Monday.

Hall's physical condition is such, it is believed, as to preclude any earlier activity on his part. He is said to be a nervous wreck. His breakdown yesterday, just before his arrest in the district court at Webster on the specific charge of the larceny of $21,000 from the bank, showed how little control he had over his emotions at present. An effort will be made by his family and friends to restore his physical condition to something like a normal state before the case is considered by the grand jury in May.

Calvin D. Paige, president of the bank, last night in a short interview, said that Hall's apparent defalcation, in the light of the examination, so far as it has gone, was about $150,000. It was not likely, he said, that this amount would be exceeded, much, although it was impossible to tell definitely.

It is possible that a special session of the grand jury may be called to expedite the legal case against Hall. The depositors, whose money is tied up by the bank's closing, are especially eager for speedy action.

District Attorney George S. Taft of Worcester, when asked about a special grand jury session last night said: "There may be one, but I do not anticipate any such move yet. I shall, however, study the case closely myself for the next two or three days." Asked whether or not other names besides that of Hall were connected with the case, he replied, "None yet." Mr. Taft, however, made it evident that the case would be probed to the bottom.

The bank trustees after a protracted meeting, issued the following statement:

"Upon investigation, the trustees found numerous irregularities existing in the accounts of former Treasurer John A. Hall. This exact amount involved has not and cannot be definitely determined until the experts now at work have completed their examination."

JAS. J. HILL

SAYS HOUSEKEEPER SHOULD GO TO MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—James J. Hill, the railroad builder, and one of the first to issue a warning against national extravagance and its reflection in the advanced cost of living, said yesterday that the problem lies in the discretion of the housewife.

"If a housekeeper," said Mr. Hill, "instead of standing in front of a telephone to order the family supplies, would go to the market and learn that foods are cheap and what are dear there would be less of this kind of talk. As I have said before, this high cost of living is the cost of living high."

Mr. Hill denied that there is any industrial and financial uneasiness over the attitude of the government toward corporations. Asked to what he attributed the depression of the stock market, he answered laconically: "Inflation."

LYMAN ABBOTT

FAVORS A DEFENSIVE AND CO-OPERATIVE ALLIANCE

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—A defensive and cooperative alliance between England, Japan and America, was proposed last night by Dr. Lyman Abbott, at the dinner given Baron Kichuki by the resident consul general of Japan.

"The great idea of the country," said Dr. Abbott, "is world peace. It is only a question of time when the common conscience will take place of great guns. Why should the nations wait? Why should the nations wait? Why should the nations wait?"

"Japan leads in the east, America in the west and England is the greatest power in Europe. These countries represent the three great sections of the globe."

"There are two ways of maintaining peace," said Dr. Abbott. "One is to be so weak as to be unable to resist, and the other is to be too strong to be afraid. We in America believe in strength."

TAFT'S BILL

FOR FEDERAL INCORPORATION ACT READY TO BE INTRODUCED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—After being subjected to the closest scrutiny of prominent lawyers and undergoing repeated revision, the bill embodying the ideas of President Taft and his cabinet for a federal incorporation act now is ready to be introduced in congress. Its preparation represents months of labor by Attorney General Wickersham and Secretary Nagel in getting up a measure that best will stand the test of the courts and safeguard the public interest. Presumably in its final feature the bill is in accord with the president's message on the subject and the preliminary draft which was published several weeks ago.

Corporations given a charter under the bill will be held to a strict accountability for the observance of its provisions, for no less than three methods are available to dispossess them of a privilege of doing business. These are the right of congress to alter, amend or repeal a charter; the right of the commissioner of corporations who issues the charter to sue for a receivership in case of a violation of any of its features; or for alleged insolvency, and the right of the attorney general to bring proceedings for annulment for violations of the Sherman anti-trust act. Proceedings instituted by the commissioner of corporations or by the department of justice may be resisted by injunction or by other legal means.

Advocates of the bill believe it is gaining some favor in congress.

SKIN DISEASES READILY CURED BY A SIMPLE HOME TREATMENT

Persons who are suffering from blackheads, pimples, dandruff, eczema, tetter, ring-worm, or any form of skin disease, often ask the question, "Is there any cure?"

Mr. Dows, the druggist, says, "Yes, there is a cure." ZEMO, a scientific, clean, liquid preparation for external use, gives prompt relief and permanently cures every form of skin and scalp disease. ZEMO draws the germ life and poisons from underneath the skin to the surface and destroys them and in this way affects a complete cure of any form of skin or scalp disease, whether on infants or grown persons.

Mr. Dows will show you proof of many remarkable cures made by ZEMO and will gladly explain to you how you can be cured by this clean, simple home treatment.

TAX COLLECTOR

Is Charged With Embezzling $7200

WELLESLEY, Jan. 28.—Clarence H. Dandmun, aged 35 years, tax collector of the town of Wellesley, was arrested late last night, charged with the embezzlement of the sum of $7200 of the funds of the town. He was locked up.

George A. Sweetser, chairman of the board of selectmen, claims that Collector Dandmun has confessed the defalcation and that the thefts have extended over the past two years.

Chairman Sweetser last night stated that some weeks ago the attention of the board of selectmen was called to the fact that many checks of citizens sent in for payment of taxes had not reached the office of the town treasurer, Fred Johnson. Tax collector Dandmun was asked to produce the checks, but he refused to do so. The town treasurer notified the board that the collector had not kept up the duplicate tax collector's record in the office of the treasurer as required by law. Dandmun was immediately ordered to complete the duplicate record and the town auditor, Thomas D. Coleman, notified to examine the accounts.

According to Chairman Sweetser, Collector Dandmun thereupon called upon him in his office in Boston yesterday and acknowledged to him that his accounts were $7200.76 short.

Dandmun was taken back to Wellesley and made his statement before the board, including Joseph Selfe, William B. Myers, and Chairman Sweetser. He was placed under arrest, and the handling company, which secured him in the sum of $3500 was notified.

The embezzlements are supposed to cover the past two years, according to the collector's and treasurer's books. Some $500 to $10,000 appearing as uncollected for the year 1908, and nearly $30,000 for the year 1909. Previously the taxes had been collected in full and accounted for. Clarence H. Dandmun is about 35 years of age and has lived in Wellesley practically all his life. He is a carpenter and contractor and has held the position of tax collector for four years. He is unmarried.

John C. Ryan, clerk of the board of selectmen, was last night appointed tax collector pro tem.

NEW STARS DISCOVERED

Several new stars have been added to the list of new discoveries. They were first brought to notice by Mr. George Lowell Tracy of Boston, and will be known as the Tracy stars. They will be visible on the Tracy stars. They will be visible on the Tracy stars. They will be visible on the Tracy stars.

Mr. Tracy, the discoverer of stars, says this performance will be better than a professional show. In addition to the new and old stars there are some specialty numbers that are simply great. The Snow Babies by twelve little girls is a beautiful dancing number. The Dutchies, eight little boys and girls, is awfully droll. The Maids and the Maidens have a charming sketch. The Irish and the Scotch numbers are clever and new. It's a great big musical show, with bright, tuneful music, quick action and there's not a dull moment in it.

The performance and rehearsals are directed by the author, Mr. Tracy. Special scenery and costumes will be used, and no expense spared to ensure a successful production.

Lowell council, K. of C. is sponsor for the show and tickets are being sold by the members, to be exchanged on Friday for coupon tickets at the Opera House.

Yo ho! Yo ho! for the Maids and the Maids.

It is impossible now to give any definite idea of the standing of the banks finances. Most of the stock was held in Mexico.

LAMY IS CHAMPION

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Jan. 28.—Edmund Lamy, of Saratoga Lake, N. Y., held his championship title in the indoor skating races here Wednesday and last night and made four new records. Last night he reduced the mark for the half mile from 1:20 2-5, made fourteen years ago, to 1:17 3-5. In the three-quarter mile he reduced J. S. Johnson's time of 2:13 made in 1894, to 2:04 1-5.

PRICE OF BEEF

Has Taken a Drop in Boston

BOSTON, Jan. 28.—The boycott on meat has begun to have a considerable effect on the trade in Boston, and prices have taken their first substantial drop, according to the acknowledgment of leading provision dealers of the city last night. Dealers in the big Quincy and Faneuil hall markets report a marked falling off in trade and anticipated an even greater slackness in the coming two weeks, when the general boycott called for two weeks is expected to take effect.

The prices of the cheaper grades of meat have been the first to show the effects of the cut in prices, rib cuts yesterday down to 11 cents a pound yesterday, the cheapest for years. Lamb has dropped two cents, pork two cents and sirloin and top of round from three to five cents a pound.

There is less buying of the higher grades of meats, according to the dealers, the public taking advantage of the early cut in the lower grades.

In the meantime the trade in fish has jumped rapidly. President M. W. Blanchard of the T. Wharf corporation declared last night that a conservative estimate would show an increase of 20 per cent in the sales of fish since the agitation over high prices began. Fish dealers are rushing their fares to the wharves, and every available man has been sent to the fishing grounds.

THE TROLLEYMEN

COMMEND LEADERS FOR DELAYING THE STRIKE

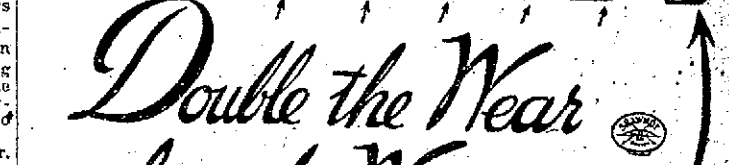

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 28.—Trolley men employed on the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company who last week voted to strike whenever their leaders deemed it opportune, last night in another meeting passed a resolution commending the leaders for delaying the strike order and endorsing the stand that every means to obtain arbitration be sought before the order to leave the cars is given.

C. O. Pratt, the national organizer, presented to the meeting a communication from the Central Labor union urging that the strike be delayed until a series of mass meetings now being arranged by the various unions be held. At these meetings it is hoped to demonstrate that the sympathy of the public is with the street car men and thereby influence the transit company officials to treat with them on a more friendly basis. Should this means fail, the Central Labor Union promises to stand by the car men in the event of a strike.

ADMIRAL DYER

Passed Away at His Home in Melrose

MELROSE, Jan. 28.—Rear Admiral Nehemiah Mayo Dyer, U. S. N., retired, died at 4.30 yesterday afternoon at his home, 15 Vine street, after a few hours' illness. Wednesday he returned to Melrose from Washington and appeared to be in good health, but yesterday he became ill with stomach trouble. Dr. R. D. Perley was called in and remained with him until he died.

An autopsy was performed last night under the direction of Admiral Dyer's nephew, Dr. Joseph H. Pratt of Boston, which showed that death was caused by cancer of the bowels. Traces also were found of ptomaine poisoning, thought to have been caused by oysters and chicken which the admiral had eaten yesterday on the train on his way home from Washington.

A quiet funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at his home. Burial will be in Wyoming cemetery. Admiral Dyer had gone to Washington to carry before the U. S. supreme court his suit to recover about $40 from the city of Melrose. Three years ago the city, under the income tax law, assessed $2000 which Admiral Dyer had in a bank. He claimed that this was his salary from the government and as such was not taxable, and he sought to recover the amount of the tax through the courts. He was defeated in the lower and the state court decided in favor of the city. Rear-Admiral N. Mayo Dyer was as brave and accomplished an officer as ever trod the quarterdeck of a man-of-war. He measured up to the full standard of American naval traditions and his memory will be enshrined in the hearts of the people with Barry, Jones, Perry, Decatur, Farragut and all the other heroes whose deeds have made the fighting history of the American navy the most brilliant of any in the world. He was a Massachusetts boy, born among the whalers and the hardy fishermen of Provincetown, in March, 1839.

AMES IS BUSY

Hard at Work in His Campaign for Senator

BOSTON, Jan. 28.—Representative Butler Ames of Lowell is still on his U. S. senatorial job at the Union club. Yesterday he met at luncheon Senator Denny of Worcester and Representatives Willette of Fall River, Ellis of Barnstable, Holden of Stoneham and Robinson of Chelsea.

Senator Nash of Haverhill was the intermediary through whom the introductions were made. Postmaster Cox of Lawrence, it is claimed, is also "on the list for the war," unless Postmaster General Hitchcock interferes on the ground of "pernicious activity."

Today other legislators are invited to lunch with Mr. Ames and talk over the situation. Unless Mr. Ames arranges for larger luncheon parties, it will take him a month to meet the republican members of the legislature.

His friends say that he prefers to meet a few at a time, as he can talk with each individually and in this way become better acquainted with them. Besides, it gives the members who have never met him before a much better opportunity to exchange views on the political situation in the state.

It was said that Mr. Ames made a favorable impression on his guests yesterday and that they showed a lively interest in what he had to say in outlining his opposition to the senior senator.

It is reported that Mr. Ames impressed upon his guests that he is in the fight to stay and expressed confidence in his ability to win.

Since coming to Boston it is said Mr. Ames has encouraged a number of state senatorial aspirants and promised them substantial support, should they be candidates for next year's senate.

DO NOT TAKE SIDES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The telegram from Boston printed in the morning newspapers that Representative Butler Ames had formally announced himself a candidate to succeed Mr. Lodge in the senate did not attract great attention here, because it has been known for months that Mr. Ames intended to contest the senatorship with Mr. Lodge, as was told in the Washington dispatches about a year ago. Members of the Massachusetts delegation were not inclined to discuss the matter yesterday and contented themselves with brief expressions of opinion.

Senator Lodge said: "I have heard that Mr. Ames is a candidate. I do not care to say anything about it."

Senator Crane said: "I cannot discuss Mr. Ames' candidacy."

Representative Gillett said: "I favor Mr. Lodge for senator. My relations with Mr. Ames are extremely friendly, but I think that Mr. Lodge is one of the strongest statesmen in the country and I hope and expect that Massachusetts will keep him in the senate, where his service is most distinguished and useful."

Representative Weeks said: "I do not care to say anything about Mr. Ames' candidacy. In fact, I have not thought about it. I am not a candidate for senator."

Representative Tirrell said: "I am in favor of the re-election of Senator Lodge and believe he will be endorsed by an overwhelming majority of the legislature of 1911."

"In some respects he has not his equal in the senate. What is not so well known, or at least appreciated, is his devotion to Massachusetts. He is an indefatigable worker in her interests. No service in her behalf seems trivial to him. He is a reliable and loyal republican. While accused of bossism, I have never known in my nine years in the public service of his attempting in the slightest degree to interfere with or attempt to control in congress the action of his associates in the house. His long service has given him a commanding position in the country and the republican party of Massachusetts will not willingly permit him to retire."

Representative Greene said: "I unhesitatingly declare myself in favor of the re-election of Senator Lodge. While bearing his opponent the kindest personal feeling it seems to me it would be a great political mistake to make any change in the present representation of the commonwealth in the senate."

Representative Washburn did not care to say anything about the matter, nor did Representatives Kellher, Peters and O'Connell. The democrats refused on the ground that they had not seen Mr. Ames' announcement. Reps. Lovering and Gardner are ill and Representative Roberts is absent from the city.

An Apology

TO MY CUSTOMERS AND THE GENERAL PUBLIC:

Up until the blizzard of Dec. 26th last, with the exception of a few weeks in the middle fall, I had made it a custom to deliver all orders promptly the day I received them, but for the last three weeks travel has been so poor, and the demand for coal, wood and coke has been so great, that though equipped with eighteen teams and a larger stock of fuel than any dealer in Lowell, it has been utterly impossible for me to give prompt delivery to all my friends and patrons. I simply did the best I could, and sent each order out in rotation as received. I am now, however, glad to say that I am up to my orders, and in a position to give prompt delivery to all the fuel trade that is sent my way. Mail and telephone calls will receive immediate attention.

THE ONION JAG

Added to Pitfalls for Erring Man

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Unsuspected forces in the lowly onion were revealed when George Prunner appeared before Magistrate Fred Goettmann, and the onion jag was added to the catalogue of pitfalls for erring man. "I was going to call on a friend who has consumption," explained the prisoner, "and my doctor advised me to eat some onions first to avoid contagion. I did. They went to my head and things began to whirl. I don't remember what happened after that," he added plaintively. "I didn't know onions ever affected folks like that." Prunner was discharged and left, followed by a crowd anxious to learn where he got the onions.

BROTHERS MEET

After Separation of Twenty Years

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—"I won't charge you for that shave, pal, because you're my long lost brother." Thereupon Thomas Rich, barber, wiped the remaining flecks of lather from a patron's face and said: "How are you, Ernest?" "I'm pretty good, Tom, how are you?" "Fine and dandy." They shook hands and went home to supper. As he was shaving him I found a scar on his face I put there myself when we were playing Indiana twenty years ago," Thomas Rich said. "We were separated when boys and had lost each other for twenty years."

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 28.—That she had provided homes for more than 300 babies in Los Angeles and that until now none of the supposed "ruthless" had been any the wiser, is the testimony of Mrs. C. F. Smith, who furnished Mrs. W. W. Wilson with four children which the latter tried to palm off several days ago on her husband as quadruplets born to her. Mrs. Smith's story was told in the investigation before Judge Wilbur regarding the parentage of the four children which Mrs. Wilson had admitted were not hers.

DRACUT

The bi-monthly social and dancing party of the "Old Liners" was held last night in Grange hall. There was the usual large attendance and the affair proved to be in keeping with the others conducted by this popular organization. Music for dancing was furnished by Hubbard's orchestra and during the intermission refreshments were served.

THE GRAND JURY PRICE OF MILK

To Probe the Alleged May be Doubled, Says Bribery Attempt Rep. Gardner

LAWRENCE, Jan. 28.—That the grand jury is to investigate the rumors of attempted bribery in connection with the alleged effort to oust Chief Engineer James A. Hamilton of the fire department was given confirmation yesterday when State Officer Fred E. Flynn served subpoenas upon witnesses to appear before the grand jury in this city next Tuesday. Two newspapermen are among those upon whom the notices were served.

The investigation is the result of publicity given to reports that an alleged attempt had been made to influence an alderman absent himself from a meeting of the upper board of the city government so as to make possible the ousting of the chief engineer. The alderman were deadlocked over the issue, it is understood. The reports went as far as to tell of the alleged passing of $1000 to a friend of the alderman. The money was eventually returned. The report had it.

The alderman is credited with having told the story of the attempt to influence him.

HUDSON NAVIGATION CO.
NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—At the annual meeting here yesterday of the Hudson Navigation company, John W. McKinnon was elected president, in place of Charles W. Moore, who is serving 15 years at Atlanta, Ga. Moore was elected while out on bail last fall before the upper courts confirmed his sentence.

ARE MICROBES IN YOUR SCALP?

It Has Been Proved That Microbes Cause Baldness

Professor Unna of Hamburg, Germany, and Dr. Sabouraud, the leading French dermatologist, discovered that a microbe causes baldness. Their theory has time and again been amply verified through research experiments carried on under the observation of eminent scientists. This microbe lodges in the sebaceous glands of the scalp, and when permitted to flourish it destroys the hair follicles and in time the pores entirely close, and the scalp gradually takes on a shiny appearance. When this happens there is no hope of the growth of hair being revived.

Dandruff is a contagious disease, which is largely due to a destructive microbe, which when left to pursue its course causes itching scalp, falling hair and baldness. Dandruff is caused by the microbe affecting the glands which produce the sebaceous matter, which later then unnaturally dries up and scales off.

We have a remedy which will, we honestly believe, remove dandruff, exterminate the microbe, promote good circulation in the scalp and around the hair roots, tighten and revitalize the hair roots and overcome baldness, so long as there is any life left in the hair roots.

We back up this statement with our own personal guarantee that this remedy called Rexall "33" Hair Tonic will be supplied free of all cost to the user if it fails to do as we state.

It cures frequently restores gray and faded hair to its original color, proved by loss of color has been caused by disease; yet it is in no sense a dye. Rexall "33" Hair Tonic accomplishes these results by making every hair root, follicle and pigment gland strong and active, and by stimulating a natural flow of coloring pigment throughout the hair cells.

Rexall "33" Hair Tonic is entirely free from grease or sediment, is exceedingly pleasant to use and will not gum the hair or permanently soil the clothing or pillows.

We exact no obligations or promises—we simply ask you to give it a thorough trial and if not satisfied to us and we will refund the money you paid us for it. Two sizes, prices 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain it in Lowell only at our store, The Rexall Store, Hall & Lyon Co., 67-69 Merrimack street.

PUBLIC HALL

FRENCH-AMERICANS PLAN ONE OF THEIR OWN

A movement for a Franco-American public hall to be erected somewhere near St. Jean Baptiste church was inaugurated at the recent meeting of Cloyens Americans and a mass meeting will be held in C. M. A. C. hall one week from Sunday.

The plan is to have a fine brick building, with offices and stores to let, but whose chief feature will be a large and convenient assembly hall for French-Americans. Such a building is now found in Lawrence, known as the Franco-American hall, and also in Haverhill. Both these occupy sites in the finest business sections of these cities, and are buildings to be proud of.

At Wednesday's meeting 10 citizens subscribed $100 each toward the building fund.

FALSE HAIR HARMFUL

Now that so much artificial hair is the fashion it is more necessary than ever that women should keep their scalps thoroughly cleansed because the present style of hairdressing is very heating and irritating to the scalp. The result is that dandruff forms, the hair thickens and the hair falls out. To guard against this condition, the scalp and hair should be washed frequently with Birt's Head Wash, a delicately perfumed preparation which has the formula printed on every package. If there is any doubt in your mind about the formula being good, ask your doctor what he thinks of it. Here it is: Refined Soap, Salicylic Acid, White of Egg, Coconut Oil and Glycerine.

GIVES UP WIFE

To the Man She Says She Loves

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—In a written statement witnessed by the German consul here, Karl Jörn, the German tenor, made public last night the terms of his separation from his wife. Like Ruskin, he surrenders his wife to the man she loves.

"I have agreed," says Jörn, "that she get a divorce so she can marry the man of her choice. Furthermore, I have bound myself to pay her $25,000 in cash and $1000 a year until she is married again. To our three children I give $1000 a year for the rest of their lives. I gave my wife all the money I had before she sailed and I did not even have 50 cents to buy her a bunch of violets at the pier."

Jörn kissed his wife affectionately before she sailed last week for Germany. He met her when a young man struggling for success, and their life until recently had been very happy together.

DROP IN PRICES

MEAT GOES DOWN IN NEW YORK CITY

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Effects of the anti-meat campaign were still strongly reflected in local markets today. While accessions to the list of no-meat-for-thirty-days families are perhaps less numerous the impetus of the initial movement is still strong enough to influence prices, which continue to drop somewhat at wholesale houses. As predicted it is probable that the Saturday marketers would find themselves able to replenish their larders at from 10 to 20 per cent less cost than a week ago.

AMERICAN LEAGUE SEASON

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—The season of the American baseball league will open this year on April 14, according to President Johnson of the league. Johnson also announced that he would issue a call today for the annual meeting of the American league club owners to vote upon the adoption of the schedule. The meeting will be held on Feb. 15 in Chicago.

Three Policemen "Dis-missed From Force"

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Commissioner Baker of the police department dismissed three men from the force yesterday for brutal assaults upon citizens. Information of this action, Mayor Gaynor wrote the commissioner as follows:

"I am very much gratified by this prompt action. Let all such men on the force be treated in the same way. Let the whole force know once and for all that it will be deemed a greater offense to commit unlawful battery on a citizen, or unlawfully to enter a house, than to let a criminal escape."

Ellas A. McQuade, Patrick Kelley and Andrew H. Pendergast have gone to Hot Springs, Ark. They will be gone five weeks and on the return trip they will take in the Mardi Gras carnival at New Orleans.

HOW TO CURE A TERRIFIC HEADACHE.

Many people suffer with an aching head week after week, occasionally getting relief from so-called headache powders and nerve sedating drugs. They never get cured because they start wrong. Such people should do a little commonsense thinking. Headache is simply the result, a warning signal, of a far more serious trouble. Usually it means bad blood poisoned by an inactive or sluggish liver. Headache sufferers are often nervous, cross and irritable. Their sleep is disturbed and digestion impaired. The liver doesn't do its work right, and the bile elements poison both nerve and brain.

Smith's Pineapple and Butternut Pills remove the cause of headache. They are Nature's true laxative, and give tone to liver activity, are a positive specific for biliousness and a torpid liver. Get your liver right by using Smith's Pineapple and Butternut Pills and your head won't ache, your nerves won't weaken, nor your food distress you. Physicians use and recommend them. They form no habit. You should always keep them on hand. These little Vegetable Pills will ward off many ills.

The Buying Power of Your Money

It is impossible for a large store to clear out all left overs of the passing season. Statements to the contrary are false. There is a difference in opinion among owners and managers of large stores; the majority will not greatly sacrifice goods, because they say they are not in business for their health; the few say we had better take cost and in some cases a little less so as to have the use of the money and be able to show brand new goods the following season.

King's is among the few stores that believe in sacrificing their goods the end of the season regardless of thinking of profits; therefore, the buying power of your money at the present time at this store is well worth looking into before you go elsewhere. Read these values; you'll profit thereby if you come here.

DR. J. B. FIELD

Treasurer Association of Boards of Health

BOSTON, Jan. 28.—At the annual meeting of the Massachusetts association of boards of health, held in the hotel Brunswick yesterday afternoon, Dr. David D. Brough advocated registration for the purposes of control of all cases of laryngeal and pulmonary tuberculosis.

Dr. Mark W. Richardson read a paper on "Ophthalmia Neonatorum," dealing with facts about its prevention as they affect the commonwealth, and Simon C. Keith, Jr. gave an address upon a new and improved form of bubbling drinking fountain, which does away with waste and perils economy in water consumption, as the fountain bubbles only when a foot treadle is pressed. As the association has for some time been working against the public drinking cup it was interested in this matter, as it is in the legislation against the drinking cup introduced in the state legislature this term.

The annual meeting was very largely attended and following the customary dinner these officers were re-elected: Dr. Henry P. Wolcott of Cambridge, pres., Dr. Samuel H. Durgin of Boston and Dr. C. B. Chapin of Providence, vice presidents, Dr. James C. Coffey of Worcester, secretary, and J. B. Field of Lowell, treas.

A SUICIDE PACT

Young Lovers Were Found Dead

DES MOINES, Jan. 28.—Because of parental objection to their marriage on account of their youth, Vernon Barr, aged 16, and Lila Ammon, aged 14, killed themselves yesterday. They were found near Monroe, clasped in each other's arms, sitting upright in young Barr's buggy, in which they were riding home from a dance. On the girl's lap rested a cup partly filled with strychnine and water. They both had drunk of this. Their horse proceeded on his way and stopped at the gate of the girl's home.

LOWELL DIRECTORY

SOME FEATURES OF THE DIRECTORY FOR THE PRESENT YEAR.

The Lowell Directory for 1910 is out and the volumes are being distributed throughout the city by the local agent of the Sampson & Mifflin company of Boston. This year's edition is somewhat similar to those published in recent years and besides the directory proper contains much valuable information. In the book is a map of Lowell, showing the various streets and ward lines, a street directory, business directory and record of the city government, institutions, societies, organizations, etc. Last year there were 48,554 names in the book and this year 5826 were added and 8252 erased, making a total of 50,480 names in the volume, an increase of names of 1674 over last year.

Included in the directory are the names of 1156 persons who have died or removed from the city since the 1909 directory was published, with the date of death, etc.

The first name in the book is that of "Charles E. Abare, houseman, 10, 22 Fourth street, house, 51 Fifth street," while the last is that of "Mabel Zyzlewicz, operative, boards 16 Bent's court."

The Smiths, as usual, hold the honor of having the largest number of names in the book, though the Sullivan family gave them a hot battle this year. There are 353 Smiths and if a person is looking for John Smith he will find himself up against a pretty perplexing proposition, for there are 25 John Smiths in the book. Of that number ten are plain John and they reside in almost as many parts of the city.

There are 353 people who bear the name of Sullivan in the directory. There are 42 Johns, 23 Marys and 18 Michaels. A peculiar thing about the Mary Sullivans is that ten of them are widows.

The name Murphy appears 382 times in the book. There are 215 Browns and 215 Rileys, to say nothing of those that spell their names Kelly, and there are 164 who bear the name of Burns.

Speaking of the Donahoes there are 127, but they spell their names in seven different ways. Those who spell their name Donahoe number 46, while 22 write their name Donohoe; Donahue is the way 18 people sign their names and 24 write it Donoghue; eight use an "e" in the middle and spell their name Donchue, five go by the name of Donaghue and four are Donohue.

WAGE INCREASE

To be Demanded by 4000 Employees

HARTFORD, Jan. 28.—Demands for a wage increase, it is expected, will be made on the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad by the four thousand trolley men on the company's lines in this state, and Massachusetts, following the meeting here next Monday of the New England joint conference board of Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees. The demand, it is understood, will be for a maximum wage of 30 cents an hour. There may also be presented a request for an increase of overtime pay. The lowest maximum wage paid now is 23 cents an hour in Middletown. The best, 25 cents an hour, prevails in this city and New Haven. The men work about ten hours a day.

GOVERNOR SPRY

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 28.—"I have issued no final statement on the Jeffries-Johnson fight," said Gov. William Spry, last night, "and will not do so now until next week. Looking carefully into the law on the subject though, I see no reason to change from my original attitude against the fight. However, I don't want to rush into this thing blindly. It may be that no statement will be needed."

SMALL-POX

HOUSEHOLDERS CAUTIONED

How to Avoid Contagion

Vaccination and the use of a reliable disinfectant are recognized as the best preventives. The last thing at night pour into the traps of the closets, wash basins, sinks, etc., just a little Platt's Chlorides. Places where disease germs may develop, nooks behind plumbing and all spots that can be reached by the scrubbing brush should be freely sprinkled with a mixture of one (1) part of Platt's Chlorides and ten (10) parts of water. This dilution costs less than 5 cents a quart. Do not neglect a liberal sprinkling of the cellar. To remove objectionable odors where sprinkling is inadvisable, keep closed by the scrubbing brush with the dilution mentioned. A little extra care just now may prevent much sickness and expense. Platt's Chlorides is an odorless, colorless liquid disinfectant which instantly destroys foul odors and disease-breeding matter. It is sold by druggists everywhere in full quart bottles and is prepared only by Henry B. Platt. Book with sanitary information mailed free on writing to 42 Cliff street, New York.

SEVERAL ARRESTS

Race Riot in Mill in Amesbury

AMESBURY, Jan. 28.—A race riot, started by a dozen Greeks and Armenians in the morning, the company here yesterday, resulted in the arrest of half a dozen Greeks and the removal to the hospital of three others. The trouble grew out of the alleged supplanting of Armenian workmen by Greeks in the rug department of the factory.

Up to a short time ago there were practically all Armenians in the department. When the trouble started yesterday there were only two Armenians in the department and 10 Greeks.

The trouble has been brewing, it is said, for some time, so that the fight started with very little provocation yesterday. So far as can be learned the fight centered about Charles Macke, an Armenian, and Kristos Jares, a Greek. Macke was removed to the hospital suffering from a blow on the back of his head with an axe. When the trouble first started he defended himself with a club and as that proved too clumsy in the close quarters of the room he pulled out a dirk.

LICENSE BOARD

Refused to Revoke Hotel License

SALEM, Jan. 27.—The board of license commissioners met last evening and took action on the complaint of Mayor Howard against the Colonial house.

The board last night decided not to revoke the license adopted an order presented by Commissioner McSweeney setting forth that the evidence introduced by the mayor in his complaint was "insufficient to satisfactorily prove a violation of any law of the commonwealth or of the conditions of the license so as to warrant a forfeiture of suspension of the license."

Commissioners McSweeney and Trumbull voted for the order and Chairman Saunders voted against it. The commissioners also voted to order that Alexander S. Kotarski to remove all tables and chairs from his licensed saloon on Derby street, their presence being a violation of the provisions of his license.

HELD FOR BREAK

Boy Said to Have Stolen $15

WINCHESTER, Jan. 28.—The ticket office in the Wedgemere railroad station was broken into yesterday afternoon and $15 taken, a part of which was later recovered. About 4.30 the station agent, as is his custom, started down the railroad tracks to light a signal lamp. On his return a few minutes later he found the front window of the ticket office smashed and all the bills taken from the money drawer.

A small boy who had been hanging about the station for some time had disappeared and the following officers were installed: C. C. James, T. Morrin, V. C. James F. Delmar; M. of A. William Balmforth; K. of R. and S. E. J. Garner; M. of E. Richard J. Conway; M. of F. Thomas M. Clark; prelate, Warren Carter.

The sixth annual supper under the auspices of the gentlemen of the Congregational church was held Wednesday night in the church vestry, and it proved to be one of the most successful affairs conducted by the male members of the parish. An excellent supper was served, after which the following entertainment was given: Trio for mandolin, violin and piano, Leslie, Albert, and Everett Bull; reading, Mr. Fleming; duet, Fred A. R. Mixon and Sidney A. Bull; violin solo, Ralph Messer; reading, Mr. Fleming; solo, Fred A. R. Mixon; solo, Royal Holden; reading, Mr. McMillen; trio.

The entertainment was in charge of Mrs. Ernest T. Wheeler, who was the accompanist of the evening. Mr. Holden was assisted in preparing and serving the supper by Frank L. Day, Arthur S. Cook, Ernest T. Wheeler, John H. Baker, Charles W. Holyston, Eugene C. Vining and Everett S. Hall.

MADE GREAT INCREASE IN TRADE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Trade of the United States with its noncontiguous territories aggregated 172 million dollars in the year just ended, against about 64 million a decade ago. In addition to the 172 million dollars worth of merchandise, there was received from Alaska 18 million dollars worth of gold of domestic production. Under the term "noncontiguous territories," the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor includes Porto Rico, Alaska, the Hawaiian Islands, the Philippines, Guam, Midway and Tutuila, and with each of these the trade with the United States has increased rapidly in the last ten years. In 1899 the trade returns of all this territory, except Alaska, were included with those of foreign countries. Since 1899 trade with Porto Rico has increased from 7 million to 52 million dollars; with Hawaii, from 33½ to 61 million; with the Philippines, from 6½ to 27 million; and with Alaska, from an estimated total of 17½, to over 31 million dollars.

This growth in trade with the noncontiguous territories is almost evenly divided between inward and outward shipments, receipts from the territories showing a gain of 67 million, and shipments thereto a gain of 51 million dollars since 1899. Shipments from Porto Rico to the United States in 1909 aggregated 27 million dollars, against 3½ million in 1899, a gain of 23½ million dollars; from Hawaii, 41½ million, against 22 million in 1899, a gain of 19½ million dollars; from the Philippines, 13½ million, against 5 million in 1899, a gain of 8½ million; from Alaska, 13½ million dollars, against approximately 8 million in 1899, a gain of 5½ million during the decade. Meantime outward shipments have increased: to Porto Rico, from 3 2-3 million in 1899 to 25 2-3 million in 1909, a gain of 22 million dollars; to Hawaii, from 11 million to 19 million, a gain of 8 million dollars; to the Philippines, from less than 2 million to practically 14 million, a gain of 12 million; and to Alaska, from about 9½ to 17½ million, a gain of 8 million dollars over those of 1899.

Of the 173 million dollars' worth of merchandise shipped to Alaska in 1909 iron and steel manufactures were valued at 3½ million dollars; meat and dairy products, 2 1-3 million; and wood manufactures, explosives, woolen goods, tobacco, machinery, mineral oil, breadstuffs and vegetables, respectively from one-half to nearly one million dollars. Of the 13½ million dollars' worth of merchandise received from Alaska last year, salmon alone amounted to nearly 10½ million; other fish, about 1 million; furs, one-half million; and copper ore, 206 thousand dollars.

Porto Rico's chief shipments to the United States are sugar, fruits and nuts, molasses, cigars and leaf tobacco. Sugar increased from 107 million pounds, valued at 51-2 million dollars in the fiscal year 1899 to 503 million pounds, valued at 18 million dollars in the calendar year 1909; molasses, from 336 thousand to 409 thousand dollars; fruits and nuts, from 307,000 to 414,000 dollars; cigars, from $39 to 415,522 to $1,218,667. Meantime American shipments to Porto Rico have also shown remarkable gains; breadstuffs, from 187 thousand dollars in the fiscal year 1899 to over a million dollars in the calendar year 1909; molasses, from 162 thousand to 3 1-4 million dollars; iron and steel manufactures, from 107 thousand to 3 2-3 million dollars; and rice, from $144 to nearly 4 million.

Hawaii shipped to the United States last year merchandise valued at 41 2-4 million dollars. Sugar, valued at 38 1-2 million dollars in 1909, has more than doubled since 1899 with its total of 17½ million. Fruits and nuts aggregated 1 1-2 million, against but 63 thousand dollars in 1899, while coffee and rice also show substantial gains. In shipments to Hawaii, valued at 19 million dollars last year, iron and steel manufactures show little change, 2 3-4 million dollars being the total for both 1899 and 1909; cotton manufactures increased from 1-2 to 1 3-4 million dollars; breadstuffs, from 1 million to 2 million dollars; mineral oils, from 181 thousand to 1 1-3 million dollars; cars and carriages, from 147 to 810 thousand; lumber, from less than 500 to 894 thousand dollars; and meat and dairy products, from 301 to 807 thousand dollars.

Philippine shipments to the United States, aggregating 13 1-2 million dollars in 1909, consisted chiefly of Manila hemp, 10 million, against 3 1-3 million a decade earlier; sugar, 2 1-3 million dollars, against less than 1 million in 1899; and cigars, 351 thousand dollars, against $196 in 1899, while receipts of

BALLINGER COMMITTEE IN SESSION--
MAN BEHIND ALASKA LOBBY CHARGE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—In the foreground of the accompanying picture of the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee in session is Representative James M. Graham of Illinois, the demagogue chosen by the house to fill the place left vacant by the action of Representative Lloyd of Missouri, who refused to serve. The other members of the committee shown in the picture, reading from left to right, are as follows: Representative Denby, Representative McCall, Representative Olin-sick, behind whose head Mr. McCall can just be seen; Representative Madison, Senator Nelson, chairman, in the background; Representative James, Senator Sutherland, Senator Root, Senator Fletcher and Senator Paynter. The man on the right is the clerk of the committee, James Wickersham, the delegate in congress from Alaska, who denied that he charged President Taft and former President Roosevelt with maintaining an Alaskan lobby in Washington. "I did repeat to a group of friends that I had been told by a prominent lobbyist that he represented certain interests before congress in which the president was interested. I said nothing to indicate that I believed our president or any other president had kept up a lobby system," said Mr. Wickersham. The Ballinger-Pinchot investigation is intimately connected with the question of the legal disposition of Alaskan coal lands.

CALEDONIAN CLUB

Held Banquet and Dance Last Evening

The monthly meeting of the Caledonian club in Pilgrim hall, last evening was rendered memorable by a banquet in honor of the Burns anniversary. Chief James McDowell acted as master of ceremonies. Mr. McDowell made a brief address of welcome and his speech was followed by a song by John McLaren. Rev. J. M. Craig gave an excellent toast to "Burns" and gave a review of his life. Mrs. C. S. Young gave a solo and Mayor McEthan responded briefly to the toast "City of Lowell." James O'Sullivan spoke on his visit to Scotland. Robert Muir and Miss Tait sang very acceptably, and James P. Ramsey made appropriate remarks to the occasion. John McLaren again favored the audience with another vocal selection, and the last speaker on the program was Lawrence Cummings, who responded to the toast, "The Press." Following the completion of this program, which lasted until nearly 11 o'clock, dancing was enjoyed, after a grand march led by Chief and Mrs. James McDowell. Miss Margaret Stevenson furnished music at the piano, throughout the evening, and dancing. The affair lasted until nearly 1 o'clock, and was most enjoyable throughout.

IMMENSE DAMAGE DONE BY FLOOD
IN BEAUTIFUL CAPITAL OF FRANCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The extent of the disaster in Paris caused by the overflowing of the Seine grew with each day. The French capital with its 2,000,000 inhabitants is suffering from the worst since the early part of the 17th century and the ensuing suffering was greater than that endured during the memorable siege of 40 years ago. Not only did the low lying and poorer quarters of the city suffer from the overflowing of the streets and the undermining of the buildings, but the richer residents of Paris felt the effects of the disaster in scarcity of food, the cutting off of heat and light and the spread of disease. The rising waters penetrated the home of the United States Ambassador, Bacon, the overflow put-ting out his furnace fires and setting ablaze did the low lying and poorer quarters of the city suffer from the

Orrine Does Cure
DRUNKENNESS

This is a positive fact known to tens of thousands of wives and mothers of this land. They know Orrine is a reliable remedy for the cure of drunkenness, because it has restored their loved ones to lives of sobriety and usefulness. Everyone of these women bought Orrine with full confidence that it would effect a cure or their money would be refunded to them if it failed. This guarantee is in each box. No other remedy for the cure of drunkenness is sold with this liberal guarantee, but Orrine has been so uniformly successful that the makers want the buyers to know that they have full protection if it should fail in any instance. We never publish letters of patients, but recently this letter came to us from Dr. Nolte, 5th and Rice sts., Philadelphia, Pa. "I read it and you will readily appreciate why Orrine is so well thought of."

"I have had a remarkable case of inebriation under my personal observation. The patient drank heavily for fifteen years and reached a degraded condition, which caused the breaking up of his family and separation from his wife. Every hope was given up of ever saving the man from his strong desire for drink, and only a mother's interest finally persuaded him to voluntarily take treatment for his diseased condition. It was my pleasure to recommend Orrine, both before and after, and the treatment was taken faithfully. This was two years ago and the patient is now in a healthy condition and still obtains from the use of stimulants. I have sold Orrine for a number of years and have always found it to be satisfactory. I believe you have an exceptionally good treatment for this disease."

Orrine is prepared in two forms. No. 1, a powder, absolutely tasteless and odorless, to be taken in food or drink. Orrine No. 2, in pill form, for those who wish to cure themselves. Free Orrine Rockett (Quoted in plain sealed envelope) to Orrine Co., 601 Orrine Building, Washington, D. C. Orrine is sold by all druggists. Write for Orrine Drug Co., 121-123 Merrimack.

They know Orrine is a reliable and efficacious remedy for drunkenness and they will not offer you a substitute,
